RUSSIA'S OVERWHELMING STRENGTH DISPLAYED; SIX GREAT ARMIES ARE BATTLING AGAINST AUSTRO-GERMANS

Lavish Use of Ammunition Proves Czar's Hosts Have Inexhaustible Supplies With Which to Batter Down Enemy's Defences; Forces Led by Grand Duke Nicholas on the Move Again; Revival of Activity in Region of Verdun

London, July 13.—The recovery of the Russian armies since last year and the apparently inexhaustible supply of guns and ammunition with which they are provided continues to be a source of wonder to military writers. At least six great armies are engaged against the Austrians and Germans on Russia's western front. All of them are using great quantities of ammunition, even those not definitely on the offensive.

Grand Duke's Forces.
The forces under Grand Duke Nicholas in Armenia and Persia have been fighting victoriously against the Turks for months. A few weeks ago parts of these forces, particularly those west of Erzerum, fell back during very hot weather and in the face of a stronger Turkish army. Early this week the grand duke resumed the offensive in this region and recaptured Mamakhatum, 50 miles west of Erzerum, so that the Turks have fallen back some 25 miles from the farthest point reached in their counter-offensive.

Meanwhile the armies directly south of the Pinsk marshes are fighting a pitched battle with the Austro-German forces of General von Linington along the line of the Stokhod river. It probably will be some days before the decision is reached, as the Teutons have brought up very strong reinforcements in the hope of retaining possession of Kovell, loss of which would necessitate regrouping over a long stretch of the front.

Western Front.
In the west the renewed efforts of the German crown prince at Verdun temporarily are taking precedence in the public mind over the battle of the Somme. The attack just delivered by the Germans before Verdun is the seventh great onslaught by dense masses of troops since the operations began some five months ago. The Germans have made a slight gain, but this has not lessened the confidence of the French in their ability to hold the city. They still have three solid lines of defence which must be penetrated before the German objective can be gained.

The British still are engaged in clearing the Germans from fortified positions which must be taken before the general offensive can be renewed.

KNOWS THE BRITISH STILL HOLD GRIP

Amsterdam, July 13.—Discussing the voyage of the German submarine Deutschland, the Deutsche Tages Zeitung, of Berlin, says:
"We Germans should not hope for too much from the voyage of the Deutschland to the United States. That the vessel would be able to force the blockade was to be expected. Furthermore, Great Britain will not be able to do much against such transport service in future, but it is too much to expect that the British blockade of Germany will be ended by this means."
"We expect the arrival of the Deutschland and other vessels of similar construction will cause a great sensation in the United States and produce laudatory newspaper articles, but Germany will not be justified on that account in drawing the conclusion that this will change the attitude of the United States toward this country. An American remains what he is, no matter how he expresses his surprise."

FIGHTING SPREAD OF INFANTILE PARALYSIS

New York, July 13.—New York city health officers said to-day they were doing their best to prevent the spread of infantile paralysis from the city to other communities. Residents of infected districts here have been warned they will encounter stern quarantine measures if they leave the city. Out-of-town health authorities have been asked to report any persons arriving from infected areas in New York city.

PROVINCE OF MADRID IN STATE OF SIEGE

Paris, July 13.—The city and the province of Madrid to-day were declared by the government in a state of siege on account of the strike of railroad employees, according to a Havas dispatch from the Spanish capital.

TRADE SUPREMACY MUST BE UPHELD, SAYS LORD DERBY

London, July 13.—The parliamentarians from the Overseas Dominions returned to London to-day after a strenuous tour of Birmingham, Sheffield, Manchester and Tyneside, where they visited arsenals and munitions factories.

Lord Derby, making at Manchester his first speech as under-secretary for war, said:
"The war will not end with the declaration of peace. We are now going to keep our birthright of trade supremacy."

CAPTURED GERMANS TELL OF HORROR OF HURRICANE BOMBARDMENT THEY SUFFERED WHEN BRITISH AT WORK

London, July 13.—A correspondent who visited the village of Contalmaison on Tuesday, after its capture by British troops on Monday night, describes the terrible havoc wrought by the great British guns and refers to the impossibility of the enemy holding the point under such a hurricane of shells.

At one point behind the new line he saw 300 captured Germans marching down a side-track between some ripening corn, under mounted escort. Most of them were young and healthy men, who walked briskly, and it was only the few behind, who limped as they walked and looked broken and beaten men.

It was a good day in prisoners, for about 500 had come down from Contalmaison, the Mametz wood and the Tones wood as living proofs of the advance at all those places.

INTO CONTALMAISON FROM THREE SIDES

British Prepared Way So Thoroughly Position of Germans Was Hopeless

London, July 13.—In a dispatch from the Somme front, Philip Gibbs says:
"The British do not gloat over the sufferings of their enemies, though they must make him yield. I have seen things to-day before which one's soul swoons and which, God willing, my pen shall write so that men shall remember the meaning of war, but now, when these things are inevitable, we must look only to our progress toward the end."
To-day the British made good progress toward it. Yesterday I wrote of a position we attacked on July 1 as a great German fortress with a chain of strongholds linked by underground works. In ten days, by the wonderful gallantry of the men and the great power of the guns, the British have smashed several of the German forts as strong as any on the western front, and defended as stubbornly by masses of guns and troops, and have stormed a way in so deeply that the Germans now are forced to fall back upon the next line of defence.

ENFORCEMENT OF MAN. LIQUOR LAW

Winnipeg, July 13.—Official notice to quit business has been served on numerous commission houses which since Manitoba went "dry" have sprung up for importing liquor. The larger of these institutions will contest the official ruling, but many mail order systems operated in connection with stores already have ceased operations.

BRITISH AVIATORS BUSY OVER GERMANS DESPITE WEATHER

London, July 13.—An official report on the operations along the line in France and Belgium issued this afternoon said:
"Despite the unfavorable weather our aeroplanes have been constantly at work. Hostile machines were active, but all their attacks on our aeroplanes operating over the German lines were driven off. One of our aeroplanes is missing."

FOSTER WOULD MAKE ALL GERMANS REPENT

Canadian Minister of Trade and Commerce Spoke at Manchester

London, July 13.—Manchester gave a warm welcome to Sir George Foster, who was the principal speaker at a great meeting last night, his subject being "Empire Trade." The meeting, which was held under the chairmanship of Lord Derby, had a special significance, being held in the historic Free Trade hall, famous in the annals of the northern city as the platform where such men as John Bright and others of the Manchester school of politicians expounded their principles. The meeting was arranged jointly by the Conservative and Liberal organizations, indicating the truth of Sir George Foster's statement that many prejudices have been burned away and much ignorance dispelled by the heat of war.

In a fluent oration which was punctuated by lively applause, Canada's minister of trade and commerce declared himself nonplussed by Germany's fatal error in resorting to the use of the rifle and the bayonet when her methods of "peaceful penetration" had attained such success.

Better Arrangements.
The allied nations must make better arrangements for and between themselves after the war than they had made for neutrals who had never struck a blow in this contest. The speaker was glad that these neutrals had kept out of the war, but they had enjoyed its advantages while the allies had borne, and would continue to bear for a generation, its burden.

With regard to the allies' enemies, he would bar out every German until he had repented in sackcloth and ashes. He would give them a good long while for repentance. He did not hate the Germans, but he did not intend to forget what they had done.

The overseas dominions believed they must have a fairly protective tariff, and they would stand by it, but they also believed they should give the mother country favored entrance over other nations. Canada had gone a step further and had given favored treatment to other overseas dominions, excepting Australia, with which negotiations were not completed.

MANITOBA GOVT. TO LOOK INTO ERECTION OF COLLEGE BUILDINGS

Winnipeg, July 13.—Attorney General Hudson stated to-day that he will announce shortly the names of the commissioners who will investigate charges of graft in the construction of the agricultural college buildings, where more than $1,000,000 was wasted. It is charged, under Hon. Robert Rogers's regime as minister of public works in Manitoba. The college buildings cost about $4,000,000. The probe is expected to rival that into the parliament buildings scandal, and the investigators will begin without delay.

MORE DEATHS FROM INFANTILE PARALYSIS

New York, July 13.—A slight decrease in the number of new cases and a marked increase in the number of deaths during the last 24 hours in the epidemic of infantile paralysis were shown in the daily bulletin issued by the department of health at noon to-day. During the 24 hours preceding 10 o'clock this forenoon 24 children died from the plague and there were 117 new cases in the greater city.

Canadian Minister of Trade and Commerce Spoke at Manchester

London, July 13.—Fighting continues at various points along the battlefield in the region of the Somme, but there has been no change in the situation on any part of the British line, says an official statement issued by the war department this afternoon.

Attempts of Germans to raid trenches west of Wyschaete and south of La Bassée canal were frustrated.

Paris, July 13.—There was no infantry fighting of importance last night on the Verdun front or on the portion of the Somme front held by the French the war office announced this afternoon. Intermittent artillery engagements occurred in the Somme sector. In the vicinity of Souville, Chenois and Lauffe, east of the Meuse, a heavy bombardment was maintained by the Germans.

In the Champagne, French troops penetrated a salient of the German front and took prisoners.

Two German raids in the Argonne were stopped by the French fire.

The statement says:
"There have been intermittent artillery exchanges along the front of the Somme."
"In the Champagne district we penetrated a salient of the German line in the vicinity of Pronnes and brought back some prisoners."

WILSON SOLICITOUS ABOUT DEUTSCHLAND

Would Like to Help Submarine to Get to Germany Safely

FOUR FROM CANADA KILLED IN ACTION

Two Officers With Imperial Regiments Went From This Province

London, July 13.—Although the contentions of the British and French embassies that the German submarine Deutschland, now at Baltimore, is a potential warship has had little weight at the state department in view of the department's information that the vessel is purely a merchant ship, officials to-day saw that other bothersome questions might arise in connection with the undersea boat's visit.

Already, it was announced, consideration is being given to a suggestion that the government should withhold news of the boat's sailing to prevent information reaching the allies. The department is concerned, too, as to the boat's treatment if discovered by enemy cruisers in the Atlantic. Under a ruling that the vessel is a merchant craft the state department could not countenance the sinking of it in violation of international law.

Smaller Than Stated.
Unloading of the cargo of the Deutschland was completed early to-day and the vessel's rise revealed that the estimates of her size have been exaggerated. Instead of being more than 300 feet long and 30 feet wide, her length is not more than 260 feet and her width is less than 25 feet. Her overall draft, figured submerged, shows that she needs at least 32 feet for complete submersion.

The crew of the Deutschland decided to turn over to the Red Cross fund the $10,000 gift for valor given by a New Yorker.

FEARS INCREASE OF INFANTILE PARALYSIS

Watertown, N.Y., July 13.—Dr. H. L. K. Shaw, head of the division of child hygiene of the New York state health department, said to-day he feared that the epidemic of infantile paralysis in New York state would grow more serious.

"I do not wish to be an alarmist," said Dr. Shaw, "but in all past epidemics the disease has become more virulent as the summer progressed. August and September are the worst months."

The speaker said the disease could not be traced to a milk supply and that the only point of entry was the nose. Flies may be carriers, as well as human beings, he said.

LORD HALDANE WANTS TRUTH TO BE KNOWN

Echo In Parliament of Allegations About Attitude Toward Germany

London, July 13.—The campaign which was carried on in a section of the press some time ago against Viscount Haldane because of his alleged pro-German leanings before the war, broke out in the House of Lords yesterday. When Viscount Haldane arose to speak on "National Education," the Duke of Buccleuch interposed with a reference to the assertions, published before the viscount resigned as lord high chancellor, that after his return from his visit to Berlin in 1912 he made speeches in which he stated that Germany felt no hostility toward Great Britain.

"I want the noble lord first to explain his past conduct in deceiving Great Britain as to the German danger," said the Duke of Buccleuch.

Viscount Haldane replied that no man desired more than himself that the whole facts as to what had been done before the war should be brought out. He said there had been an extraordinary amount of misrepresentation, untruth and inaccuracy and that the sooner the truth was brought to light the better.

SUBMARINE IS NOT MERCHANT VESSEL

Possibilities Prevent Such Classification, Is View Held by British Govt.

London, July 13.—The Daily News says the British government is disposed to take a very serious view of the status of the German submarine Deutschland, now at Baltimore. The official opinion is said to be that under existing circumstances a submarine cannot be classed as a merchant vessel at all.

"The American government faces a new and delicate problem which adds one more to the already numerous points on which a decision after the war will be imperative," the News continues. "Even if a submarine merchantman can prove herself to be really unarmed, the difficulties of supervising such a craft, even in harbor, must be almost insuperable for the friendly neutral. If such a vessel chose, it is fairly clear that with the advantages she possesses she most grossly abuse the hospitality extended to her."

BRITISH NOW HOLD ALL MAMETZ WOOD

Recaptured Ground Lost North of Somme; Fighting on Verdun Front

London, July 13.—British troops recaptured the ground north of the Somme lost on Tuesday night to the Germans, according to an official statement issued last night, and now hold all of the Mametz wood. Two German attacks against Contalmaison were repulsed.

The text of the statement follows: "The day was marked by sharp local fighting in certain areas in the Mametz wood. We recaptured all the ground lost last night, and now hold all the wood.

"We also made some progress in the Trones wood. The large number of German dead in this vicinity shows the costliness of their attack last night. "Two heavy German attacks against Contalmaison completely broke down under our fire."

French Report.

Paris, July 13.—The following official statement was issued last night:

"On the Somme front there was nothing to report during the day.

"On the left bank of the Meuse a spirited artillery attack occurred in the sector of Deadman's Hill.

"On the right bank the Germans undertook this morning a strong offensive in the direction of Fort Souville. At 10 o'clock, after intense artillery preparation, a strong attack with six regiments debouched from the village of Fleury and the Vaux and Chapitre woods. Notwithstanding the violence of the assaults, which were launched in masses formation on a front relatively narrow, the enemy succeeded, at the cost of enormous losses, in gaining only a little ground in the neighborhood of the chapel of Sainte Fine, at the intersection of the Fleury and Vaux woods. The bombardment continued with great violence in the whole region of Souville, Chernois and Le Lorain.

"In Lorraine an attempt against one of our trenches east of Baden-Villers was completely repulsed."

A Belgian communication said:

"Artillery actions were carried out along the entire front, but without great intensity."

SIR JAMES AIKINS AS

LT.-GOV. OF MANITOBA

Winnipeg, July 13.—It is announced in a Conservative newspaper here that Sir James Aikins, president of the Canadian Bar Association and millionaire lawyer, is to be appointed lieutenant governor of Manitoba to succeed Sir Douglas Cameron on August 1.

The Conservatives of Manitoba will hold a convention here on July 19 to select a new leader to succeed Sir Rodmond Roblin.

Chest Colds and Hoarseness

Quickly Rubbed Away

"Nerviline" Gives Speedy Relief and Cures Over Night

Got a cold?

Is your voice raspy—is your chest congested or sore?

If so, you are the very person that Nerviline will cure in a jiffy.

Nerviline is strong and penetrating. It sinks right into the tissues, takes out inflammation and soreness, destroys colds in a truly wonderful way.

Rub Nerviline over the chest—rub on lots of it, and watch that tightness disappear. Nerviline won't blister, it sinks in too fast—doesn't simply stay on the surface like a thick, oily liniment would. If the throat is raspy and sore, rub it well outside with Nerviline, and use Nerviline as a gargle diluted with warm water. Just one or two treatments like this and your voice and throat will be quickly normal again.

Just think of it—for forty years the largest used family medicine in this country—Nerviline, must be good, must quickly relieve and cure a hundred ills that befall every family. Try it for earache, toothache, coughs, colds, sore chest, hoarseness and muscular pains in every part of the body. Large family size bottle 50c; trial size 25c, at all dealers.

LEADER OF LIBERALS SPOKE AT KERRISDALE

Enthusiastic Reception for Mr. Brewster, Mr. Macdonald and Mr. McGeer

Vancouver, July 13.—Kerrisdale is enthusiastically Liberal, judging by the fine reception the citizens last night gave to H. C. Brewster, the Liberal leader; M. A. Macdonald, Mrs. Ralph Smith, president of the Women's Equality League; and Gerald G. McGeer, candidate for Richmond on the Liberal ticket. The Liberal leader arrived late and his entrance was the signal for an outburst of applause which broke in upon Mr. Macdonald's address, to which the audience was listening with rapt attention. Almost the audience were a large number of women and all of the speakers touched on the important question of equal suffrage a subject to which Mrs. Smith devoted herself.

Mr. Macdonald was warmly received following his introduction by the chairman, Sterling Ross. Mr. Macdonald gave a general review of the condition of the province and of the work of the opposition, touching upon the plugging charges with which the government had been attempting to connect himself. Mrs. Smith followed Mr. Macdonald with an appeal for equal rights. The Richmond candidate devoted himself largely to the extravagances of the Bowser-McBride administration in the Strathcona park scheme, and the meeting was closed by the Liberal leader, who gave a masterly address dealing with legislation and the failure of the Bowser government. At the conclusion of his address he was loudly cheered.

Mr. Brewster's Address.

Hearty applause greeted Mr. Brewster, who expressed his pleasure at meeting a Kerrisdale audience for the first time. As the hour was late he had not much time to deliver an address, for he was to leave for the north to check up some of the statements that had appeared in the government press and also to tell the people of the north a few facts about the administration.

Mr. Brewster briefly referred to woman suffrage. It was a plank in the Liberal platform and was a pledge of the Liberals which would be carried out. Women should be on equal footing with men, not alone on account of their great work in the war. Men had forced women out of the home and made laws to make them work. Having placed women in that condition, men had no right to say they should not have a say in the laws.

"Do you not, men, turn the training of the child over to the mother for bringing up? Then you tell her she has not sufficient intelligence to cast a ballot" (Applause). You will find that all great nations exalt woman-kind," declared the Liberal leader. "I do not think I could be a good Liberal and not be for equal rights for women." (Heard, hear.)

Mackenzie & Mann.

Mr. Brewster then had a word to say regarding Mackenzie & Mann, and read a statement made by Premier Brewster, who had said they had "invested millions in British Columbia." The statement of the premier went further and said if it had not been for the administration, Mackenzie & Mann never would have known the money to be made in this province. It was true they had made money—with watered stock. One of these investments was Vancouver Island coal mines, and according to a statement by Hon. Lorne Campbell, the mines could not be made to pay and a strike had been brought on to cover up the fact from the British investors.

"The premier was accusing him, the Liberal leader said, of being an enemy of the country, and saying he was trying to block the P. C. E. The Liberal party, on the contrary, was in favor of building any line that would benefit the province, and they had not delayed the P. C. E. Had it not been for illegality that line would have been completed and trains running into Vancouver to-day. The government had openly broken its trust and permitted the company to draw money out of the treasury.

As to the trip of the Bowser ministerial party, Mr. Brewster spoke humorously of the government party's lame attempt to blame the writ he had got out for the condition of roads in the north. (Laughter.)

Will Find Higher-Ups.

On the Vancouver by-election inquiry, Mr. Brewster reviewed the so-called "investigation," and told of the efforts to hamper the opposition from start to finish.

"I believe if I am spared in health the time is coming when I am going to know the higher-ups. This kind of thing cannot keep up. Truth will rise again, as it has before," declared the leader amid great applause.

Some day there would be a method to get at the bottom of it, Mr. Brewster said, and then there would be revelations.

The Liberal leader expressed his entire faith in M. A. Macdonald. "I believe that man has been put through the fire and he is pure gold," said Mr. Brewster, and the crowd cheered.

En route to Prince Rupert, where they will open their northern campaign, Mr. Brewster and M. A. Macdonald, his able lieutenant, left on the G. T. P. coast liner at midnight. In the north the leaders will speak at Prince Rupert, Terrace, Hazelton, Smithers, Fort Fraser, Prince George, Barkerville, Quesnel and other points in the Cariboo, and coming south will visit the Kootenay, Okanagan and Boundary districts.

Before taking his departure the Liberal leader expressed his confidence in the success of the party.

FURTHER PROGRESS BY ITALIAN TROOPS

Gains North of Serra Valley and North of the Pasubio

Rome, July 13.—An official report given out last evening said:

"In the region of the Adige valley we made some progress yesterday north of the Serra valley and in the region of Maiga Sugana. On the slopes north of the Pasubio we partly recaptured positions on Monte Corno which we lost on July 10.

"On the Isonzo front there were artillery duels. Our batteries set fire to encampments of the enemy on favorcek, broke up an enemy column in the Idria valley and caused explosions near the church of Santa Maria in Tolmino.

"Hostile aircraft dropped bombs on Latisana, causing a fire which was extinguished quickly.

"Our air squadrons on July 10 bombarded Tione, in the Giudicaria valley, and on July 11 the enemy camps at Monte Rover, northeast of Lavarone. Our aeroplanes returned safely."

BUILDING PLANS OF JAPANESE NAVY DEPT.

Tokyo, July 13.—Dispatches to the United States stating that the Japanese government has authorized the construction of four super-dreadnoughts are untrue and misleading.

According to press reports, which are contradictory, the navy department has submitted to the finance department a programme to be introduced in the Japanese Diet involving the expenditure of about 250,000,000 yen in seven years. This programme calls for the construction of three super-dreadnoughts, two battle-cruisers, numerous light cruisers, destroyers and submarines.

The reported programme would fulfill the naval ambition of the government by the creation of a first line fleet of eight super-dreadnoughts. Officials of the navy department declined to-day to discuss the programme, saying it was surmised.

EFFORT TO SAVE CASEMENT'S LIFE

London, July 13.—Petitions for a reprieve for Roger Casement, the Irish agitator found guilty of high treason and sentenced to death, were being circulated privately in London to-day. It was said they were being signed by many persons. Many of the signers expressed sympathy for Casement and many others added their names to the plea for mercy in the belief that his execution would provoke further disorders in Ireland.

MAMAKHATUM IS IN HANDS OF RUSSIANS

Town Fifty Miles West of Erzerum Captured; Fighting on Stokhod

Petrograd, July 12.—Russian troops captured the town of Mamakhatum, 50 miles west of Erzerum, on the Taurus river, by assault, it was announced officially last night. The retreating Turks set fire to the town. Following is the text of the statement:

"Our artillery dispersed Germans who were attempting to bring artillery against the Iskull wood. In the sector of the Tschorkassay farm, south of Krevo, German troops, supported by a violent artillery fire, took the offensive, but were repulsed by our counter-attack."

"On the Stokhod there were artillery duels. In the region of Vjof Kachovka the enemy attempted to approach the Stokhod, but was repulsed by our fire."

"Caucasus front—West of Erzerum our troops, having repulsed the Turks, took the town of Mamakhatum by assault. In the course of their retreat the enemy set fire to the town. We took measures to extinguish the flames."

An earlier statement said: "Caucasus front—To the west of Erzerum we made progress and captured a new line of fortified Turkish positions. A great success was scored by one of our regiments which had already distinguished itself in the memorable fighting during the months of January and February at the capture of the fortress of Erzerum."

"Prisoners continue to be brought in. From July 2 to 8, 107 officers, 1,684 men, 3 guns, 10 machine guns and 4 bomb throwers were captured. A large quantity of arms and war material was left on the line of retreat followed by the Turks."

TURN DOWN PROPOSAL OF MINE OPERATORS

Fernis, July 12.—From the figures available of the ballot cast on Monday by the coal mine employees throughout district 18 of the United Mine Workers of America on the counter-proposal of the operators which they submitted when the men presented their demands for a 35 per cent. increase in wages as a war bonus, the offer has been rejected by a tremendous majority. Nearly 4,000 votes were cast, with the majority 1,000, or approximately 2 to 1 against.

FRANCE.

To-morrow in the spirit of sympathy and admiration many millions who are not French will commemorate with France the dramatic incident which ushered in the Great Revolution and inspired a heroic, gifted people with the unconquerable devotion to liberty which has been so gloriously exemplified in the last two years. The Bastille, which one hundred and twenty-seven years ago was destroyed, was the symbol of tyranny and oppression which had ground the people to the very dust. It, rather than the Tuilleries, was the temple of medieval absolutism based upon the doctrine that a rotten monarchy and its court had the divine right to fasten upon their subjects the yoke of hopeless servitude. More than a century before, while the people of France were being taxed to death to maintain the rampart militarism of Louis XIV., the democracy of England had placed its heel upon the despotism of Whitehall. France was slow to emulate the strong measures of the stalwart champions of freedom across the channel, but when she did the change was rapid, sensational and extreme. But neither Bourbonism nor other forms of despotism perished in France in the revolution which was heralded by the fall of the Bastille. The transformation was too swift to be proof against relapse. It was not the climax of a gradual evolutionary development towards freedom such as that which marked the triumphant progress of the democracy of England. Too much was attempted in a short time. Chaos reigned and upon the ruins of the first republic there arose the military despotism of Napoleon who, though he gave to France many benefits more lasting than the glory which his achievements shed upon her, made the people pay for them in blood and tears. And after Napoleon came another instigator of Bourbonism and then more Napoleonism, although in miniature, until Bismarck, von Roon and von Moltke at Sedan completed for France the political edifice whose cornerstone was laid upon the crumbling ruins of the Bastille. For the last two years France has been engaged in a death struggle with a ruthless despotism worse even than that of which the Bastille was the terrifying symbol. From the moment a band of Uhlans entered Lorraine through the pass of Clerey, she knew what this struggle would mean, and of all the allied nations she alone knew it fully. Its shadow had been over her for more than forty years. Five times since the day her signature was attached to the humiliating Treaty of Frankfurt the war-cloud, never absent from the crest of the Vosges, had been about to break. She had hoped to avert the catastrophe; the chauvinism which sprang from the misery of her lost provinces on the Rhine was dying down. But when the blow fell she arose and met it with a resolution, genius and fortitude which amazed the world, in contrast with which the glory of the Napoleonic epoch faded to almost a shadow.

General de Castelnau, the gifted chief of staff to Joffre, has said that rather than submit to German domination France would go to her grave. This helps us to understand the matchless spirit and achievements which have aroused, universal admiration; the wonderful unanimity of the people; their instant readiness to make any sacrifice demanded of them; their adaptability to every set of conditions which may arise and the splendid dignity and composure with which the nation is meeting this unparalleled crisis. France's casualties must be nearly three millions; a large part of her most productive territory is in the hands of the enemy; many of her beautiful cities have been laid in ruins and her own guns are destroying others, yet to-day finds her more resolute and more formidable than ever, while she undoubtedly is the dominating element in the councils of the allies in regard to the warlike operations on land. Happily her agony is nearing an end. The day is fast approaching when the brutal Hun, the ravager of Lorraine, the destroyer of Arras and Rheims, will be driven back the way he came—back to his frontiers to the Vosges and the Rhine and beyond. But it is a greater France he will have left behind him, indeed the greatest France in all her wonderful history, which will speak with impressive authority among the nations of the world when Germany, dishonored and despoiled, is struggling under the cloud of infamy in which her monstrous crimes against civilization have engulfed her.

AS USUAL.

The remark of the city prosecutor in the police court yesterday that in its present form it is almost impossible to enforce the half-holiday act is not surprising. In this respect the act is fairly typical of the legislation with which the statute books is loaded every session, particularly in the closing hours when loosely drawn measures are rushed into law in such volume that members have no time to study them. Needless to say, this particular act was Mr. Bowser's own, and judging by experience it was a foregone conclusion from that fact alone that there was something fundamentally wrong with it. The war relief act, so vigorously condemned by a committee of the Board of Trade, is another specimen of ill-digested vote-catching legislation, and it is not improbable that many other measures will be found to be equally detrimental to the public interest or impossible to enforce when they come before the courts for review.

The fact, of course, is that the effect and enforcement of legislation intended for the manufacture of political capital are not considered by its authors at all, while in any case Mr. Bowser's judgment is notoriously unsound, as the Dominion Trust bill and numerous decisions of the Privy Council have abundantly shown. And it is upon this faulty judgment that Mr. Brewster's opponents demand that all the legislation adopted after March 14 should stand undetermined by the courts in the face of sound legal opinion that those laws are surrounded with doubt!

ILLEGALITY.

"When you reach the position where the law-makers are the law-breakers what security have you for the maintenance of your rights? When the government violates the law there is no safety for the individual, and the only thing to be done is to sweep that government out of power."—Mr. Brewster.

No other part of the world where representative government is presumed to exist has suffered more severely from illegality on the part of those charged with the making and administration of laws than this province. When the government breaks its own laws, when it connives with favored interests in disregarding the express provisions of the statutes, what chance, indeed, has the common individual of obtaining fair play? What protection is there for the public interest? Take the case of the Dominion Trust. That corporation was able to prey upon the people in the consciousness of full immunity because it knew that the government would not enforce its own laws for the protection of those who placed it in office. Arnold, the manager, was confident that he had nothing to fear from the Attorney-General who also was the company's solicitor, and he unquestionably believed that he had ample encouragement to go the limit in his piratical transactions. Similarly speculators who staked land in defiance of the law knew that they were quite safe in doing so; that their applications would not be rejected by the government because it had no more respect for the provisions of the act than they had.

In the case of the Pacific Great Eastern Mr. Bowser admits that he paid to the company nearly $7,000,000 of trust funds to which it was not entitled under the law. This was a breach of trust and as such was a violation of the criminal law of Canada as well as of a vitally important provision of the provincial statute put there expressly for the protection of the public credit. When laws designed to safeguard public funds are treated as "scraps of paper" by those sworn to enforce them, what chance have the taxpayers? How are their interests going to be safeguarded? Is it any wonder that the railroad corporations, in whose behalf the people of British Columbia have assumed a heavier load than that borne by the people of any other province or state in the world for railway construction, callously ignore the obligations fixed in solemn covenants, when the government not only does not enforce the terms of the statute against them but actually violates the law in their behalf?

"NICKEL IN WAR."

The German submarine Deutschland had not arrived in an American port and the announcement had not been made that her return cargo was to be composed largely of Canadian nickel before the by-election in North Perth, Ontario, was fought and won by an opposition candidate. Yet we gather that the issue in that campaign was the matter of the disposition of Canadian nickel, and it was raised not only by Mr. Hay, the victor in the contest, but by Mr. W. F. Maclean, M.P., a Conservative, who appealed to the electorate to "defeat the candidate of the government that has refused to put an end to the greatest blot that has been put on Canada in this world-wide war." In a charge to the electors of the constituency published in his paper, the Toronto World, Mr. Maclean said:

"The electors of North Perth have now opportunity of passing on the policy of the Ontario government in allowing a foreign nation and company—the latter under German control—to mine, export, refine, sell, control, the nickel stores of Ontario—to the great destruction, as it has proved, to the sons of Canada and of the empire; to the almost annihilation of British freedom and British rule. That supreme cause of liberty is still at stake, and Canadian nickel has been made an agent of that danger."

"If the electors of Perth rebuke that policy now there will be an end of it forever; if they do not, the fight must be carried on until the present government are forced to abandon the unpatriotic course they have been led into pursuing by the designing agents of the International Nickel Company. These agents of the International Nickel Company and of the Metal Trust that rules the world from Frankfurt, Germany, have been able to assure the two Conservative governments of Canada that they need not fear any organized criticism from the Liberal opposition in either the legislature or in the Commons."

"Not to condemn that policy now is to pave the way for its continuance; to condemn it now the present government will be forced to abandon it once and for all and to prohibit any export that is not absolutely controlled from Canada."

"We have the world's monopoly of nickel, and we have turned it over to foreigners; and the Canadian representatives of these foreigners have been one of the most potent factors in our politics now for years! And we think we know of what we speak. Once for all this must stop. "Canadians have been shot to death with nickel surreptitiously taken out of Canada for that very purpose; and this same has been aided and abetted by the agents of the great armament and metal trust in Britain."

Of course "Independent" candidates will be placed in the field in Victoria and in nearly every constituency in the province. That is an essential feature of the Bowser game for perpetuation of such conditions as were revealed in recent legislative inquiries and in the investigation now proceeding in Vancouver. It was the intervention of a so-called "Independent" candidate, specially dug out of obscurity for the purpose, that secured the return of Hon. Lorne Campbell in Rossland. All "Independent" candidates will be agents of Bowser just as truly as if they were specially subsidized by the machine for the end they undoubtedly will serve. It is upon the services of so-called "Independents" that the Premier builds all his hopes for success in the pending elections. He knows that the tide of public opinion is running so strongly against his administration that if the forces against him acted and voted as a unit his government would be routed from the political map. Hence "Independents" will be both encouraged and subsidized to enter the contest. But we doubt whether an aroused public can be hoodwinked by such methods. Those who are not with the opposition in this crucial campaign are on the side of Bowser. Their actions will be correctly appraised by the advocates of honest government.

The esteemed Colonist is in a quandary. It hardly knows what adjective to apply to Mr. M. A. Macdonald because he said the Bowser administration is criminally corrupt. It seems to think Mr. Macdonald should prove his statements by having the alleged criminals proceeded against. Our contemporary should remember that justice in British Columbia has been charged with being "tainted at the fountain head." Bowser is the fountain head. After the stream has been cleansed at its source there may be action that will satisfy the cravings of the Colonist. The Manitoba ministers and their friends could not be proceeded against until the electorate had returned a verdict against them.

Whenever the morning paper charges critics of the government with injuring the credit of the province it is not unnatural that people should wonder what now assault is about to be made upon the public interest. The credit of the province, remember, was the excuse offered by the government for the MacKenzie & Mann and Pacific Great Eastern potlatches, and we heard a great deal of it from our morning contemporary about the time Mr. Bowser's other clients, the Dominion Trust, were making their largest haul of innocent victims.

has been called to the following paragraph published in a New York paper: "Canadian Scottish troops are found to be less subject to pneumonia and lung trouble than others who do not wear kilts, and the toughness of these soldiers is attributed in large part to this peculiar uniform. But from the start it takes a man to wear 'em. Could the Seventh or the Seventy-first or the Twenty-third N. G. N. Y. do it and make as good an appearance as the sturdy Scotsman does?"

The kilt or the phibag is not to be abolished. The Highland Fling is not to be included in the ban applied against common dances. Thus far all is well—unless of course Mr. Bowser in his wisdom should pass an order in council bringing into force another freak regulation law designed to attract the vote of some vagrant class or individual.

According to the Colonist, work on the Canadian Northern works on this island are going to be "rushed to completion." There can be no doubt of it. Yesterday a man, a horse and a dumpcart were seen on the right-of-way of the Albert extension; only for a moment, though, for they were soon lost to view in the young forest which flourishes on the route.

"A Daniel come to judgment!" A departmental document states that married men spend more time in saloons than single men, whereupon a fellow drunken in his own wisdom points out that all the woes of mankind may be abolished by eliminating women from the grand programme of nature. What do you think of that as a proposition?

MORE BANTAMS COME FROM THE PRAIRIES

Draft From Edmonton Arrived This Morning; Capt. F. Wollaston to Command No. 3 Co.

Thirteen more Bantams, recruits enlisted for the 143rd Battalion, left by the 10.30 a.m. train to join the battalion which is under canvas near Sidney. Ten of the number are from Edmonton, being men recruited in Alberta by Lieuts. Campbell and Colgate, who have been engaged in recruiting in the latter province. On the arrival of the recruits this morning they were joined by three Victorians who were enlisted by the Bantams for overseas service. The clock in the window of the recruiting office at the corner of View and Broad streets which indicates the strength of the battalion, now shows the hand above the 500 mark, which was passed yesterday, and the recruiting staff is energetically working to speed it on to the next stage. Several men recruited in Vancouver are expected to arrive tomorrow.

Capt. F. Wollaston, who served with the 7th Battalion at the front and was wounded three times at Festubert in May of last year and was sent back to Victoria to recover from his wounds, has joined the 143rd Battalion and been given command of No. 3 company. The addition of Capt. Wollaston to the Bantams makes a total of five officers in this battalion who have been wounded at the front. The officer commanding, Lieut.-Col. A. Bruce Poxley, is to return to the front for a third time, he having been sent back twice suffering from wounds received in the fighting; and the three company commanders appointed to date, Capt. G. E. Shaw, Capt. J. M. Reid, and Capt. F. Wollaston are officers who were wounded in France. Lieut. R. Meredith makes the fifth officer in the complement of this battalion who was wounded in France and is returning to do some more with the Bantams.

Capt. Wollaston is a well-known Victorian. He served in the South African war as a member of the C. M. R. and remained there at the close of the war. Engaging in mining he became manager of one of the gold mines on the Rand. He came to British Columbia later and engaged in land surveying in this province. When the war began Capt. Wollaston took a commission in the 88th Fusiliers and was one of the officers selected for the 39th Battalion, with which he served as transport officer. He was drafted to the 7th Battalion and served with that unit until he was wounded at Festubert in May, 1915. In January last Lieut.-Col. Poxley applied for his transfer to the 143rd Battalion, with which corps he served for a short time as adjutant. The transfer was delayed until a few days ago, when Capt. Wollaston was posted to the command of No. 3 company.

Garden Party on Saturday.—The garden party to be given at the grounds of Mrs. David Spencer on Saturday next, July 15, from 3 to 7 o'clock, promises to be one of the most attractive of the season. A good programme will be given and a very many attractions have been arranged for the afternoon. The proceeds will go to the work of the W.C.T.U.

Twenty Sign Protest.—The operators of rent automobiles have sent a protest to the Island Auto Association against the practice of borrowing cars when parties of people come here and are shown over Victoria. The men claim this interferes with their opportunities of making a living, and is signed by twenty who are interested in the rent business.

Adjourned Sunday School Picnic.—The adjourned Sunday school picnic of the Naval and Military Methodist church, Esquimalt, will be held on Saturday afternoon next at 2.30, at the foot of Lamson street. Children in the neighborhood of the church will assemble there at 2 o'clock. Parents and friends are requested to bring picnic baskets. A good programme of sports has been arranged, and numerous prizes will be competed for.

Orangemen Celebrate.—Orangemen of the city last night met in the Orange lodge rooms in the A. O. U. W. hall, Yates street, for the celebration of the 35th anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne, fought on July 1, 1690, when William III. and his forces overcame those of James II. The programme last night consisted of recitations and songs, among those who took part being Mrs. Ritchie, pianoforte solo; Miss Cookson, Mrs. Hoffman, Mr. Cobbett, Brother Davis, Brother O. J. B. Lane, the Masters Lane, Alexander Wilson and Mrs. Sutton, recitations. Bro. H. E. Lefevre presided, the gathering being under the auspices of County Orange Lodge, No. 2. There were short speeches and the formal programme was succeeded by dances and a buffet supper, these additions bringing the occasion to a happy conclusion.

WILL SEEK RULING OF HIGHER COURT

Constitutionality of the Weekly Half-Holiday Act to Be Tested

The constitutionality of the Weekly Half-Holiday Act, as an alleged interference with the Dominion control over trade and commerce matters, is to be ruled at an early date in the higher courts.

The city prosecutor so informed Magistrate Jay this morning in securing the standing over of a charge against B. W. Grant, grocer, of 761 Pandora avenue, for having his store open after one o'clock last Saturday. The object of the adjournment was, he explained, to argue the constitutional question of the act as a whole, as to whether it was not ultra vires of the province to enact it.

Before granting an adjournment for a week, Mr. Harrison called formal proof of the offence alleged. Sgt. Fry stated the case and produced a large poster found in the store of Grant, stating that the store was only open after 1 p.m. for certain purposes, being the exempt trades of the act.

"What, in your opinion, was the principal trade carried on?" asked the city prosecutor.

Witness—The principal trade is that of groceries.

The magistrate pointed out that in order to establish what the principal trade of a store was it might be necessary to secure access to the books.

Mr. Harrison—Suppose no books are kept?

The magistrate remarked that possibly such is the case in some small stores.

To witness—You saw the premises, what would you say was the business principally?

Witness—It is a small grocery store. The case then adjourned, but an unexpected development occurred.

In the absence of Grant's counsel, engaged in another court, Mr. Harrison asked the defendant personally if he would give an undertaking not to open on Saturday afternoon.

Defendant said he would not, when Chinamen were allowed to be open. He wanted one law for everybody.

The court passed on to the next case.

RECALLS CHARACTER OF SMUGGLING DAYS

Larry Kelly, King of Puget Sound Smugglers, Was Well-Known Here

A story which appears in the Sunday edition of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer about the celebrated smuggler Larry Kelly, better known on the coast as "Big Iron" Kelly, has aroused the interest of Chief Langley, who well remembers him as a daring opium smuggler and associated with many forgotten mysteries of the waterfront.

Kelly, the king of Puget Sound and smugglers, disappeared from this district about 22 years ago, when the smuggling of Chinese across the line had aroused considerable attention from the authorities.

There was a time when the opium factories of Victoria had a large export trade, and the object of the smugglers was to get it into the United States custom free by dodging the revenue officers.

Kelly, says the chief, had a distinctive mark on the cheek from a pistol shot which made him a man once seen not likely to be forgotten. It was supposed to have been derived from a wound in the American civil war, when Kelly fought for the Confederates, the story being that when the war was over Kelly vowed to devote his life to acts of retaliation against the union.

There Is No Difference Between the Tone of the Edison and the Tone of the Artist

In practically every city of consequence in the United States Mr. Thomas A. Edison's newest invention—The New Edison Diamond-Disc Phonograph has been subjected to a tone test of extraordinary severity—no less a test than a direct comparison between "the voice of the instrument" and the voice of the artist who actually made the record in the first place.

As an illustration of how well the New Edison emerged from this astounding test, we quote the remarks of The Albany Journal, N. Y., Oct. 9, 1915:

"Mlle. Verlet gave several numbers, and it was indeed difficult to determine except by watching her lips just when she ceased to sing in person, so flawless are her recorded numbers."

St. John's Sunday School Picnic.—The Sunday school of St. John's church will hold their annual picnic to Goldstream on Tuesday, July 18. The children of the school and their friends will meet in the schoolroom, Mason street, at 8.30 a.m., when a short service will be conducted by the rector, Rev. F. A. P. Chadwick. They will then proceed to the E. & N. station, taking the regular morning train for Goldstream. The return will be made by a special train leaving Goldstream at 7 p.m. A cordial invitation is extended to the parents and friends of the children and the congregation generally to accompany the excursion.

"A Country Doctor" laments that summer time is teaching the children "to disbelieve the clock on the parish church," which is "a weakening of their moral sense" so far as the clock on our parish church goes we never had much faith in it.

AT THE THEATRES

ROYAL VICTORIA.

Nance O'Neil, with her vital personality and thrilling magnetism, will be seen in "Princess Romanoff," based on Sardou's deathless "Fedora," which is the attraction at the Royal Victoria to-night and for the balance of this week. Few dramas have ever received the world-wide fame and approbation extended universally to Sardou's most famous play, which has been acted by every great actress and is regarded as the most exacting emotional role ever written. As pictured for William Fox starring that eminent exponent of stormy emotion, Nance O'Neil, "Princess Romanoff" rises to superb dramatic heights impossible to attain within the limitations of even the most modern of stages. Certainly no more absorbing or intense screen drama has ever been filmed, nor has any greater actress than Nance O'Neil ever appeared in the famous role of the Russian Princess.

There is also shown on the same programme a good comedy and topical Budget.

DOMINION THEATRE.

"Pasquale," the latest Oliver Morosco photoplay, will be presented at the Dominion theatre for the last three days of the week. It was written by George Beban and Lawrence McCluskey, the former appearing in the title role.

Pasquale, the green-grocer, is well-known and well-liked by everybody in the little town of Oakdale. In the few short months that he had been in business he had been able, by means of courtesy and service, to pay off his loans to Banker Martinelli, a fellow compatriot. Pasquale's two joys in life were his faithful horse Columbo, and Margarita, an orphan girl whom he had raised. On her birthday he had planned to ask her hand in marriage. When he is shaken out of his usual composure by her announcement that she and Charlie Larkin, a small town "sport," are engaged. Meanwhile Mrs. Martinelli, who thinks more of her society friends than of her husband and child, is being sought by Bob Fulton, Oakdale's social lion.

At this point both Martinelli and Pasquale are called into service by the Italian consul and ordered to leave for Italy at once. Charlie in the meantime has married Margarita.

The scene now shifts to the trenches with its full accompaniment of blasting bombs, Zeppelins and other items of modern warfare. During a Zeppelin raid over the trenches both Martinelli and Pasquale are wounded by a bomb and are invalided home. They arrive unexpectedly and Pasquale, thinking that he is out of place, starts to leave. Martinelli, on arriving home, finds young Fulton endeavoring to persuade his wife to elope before his return, and in a burst of anger orders both of them to leave the house. As they are leaving in Fulton's car Charlie, who has come to levy blackmail on the couple, jumps on the back of the machine, which starts away into the night. The automobile skids and is turned over. Both Fulton and Charlie are instantly killed and Mrs. Martinelli is pinned under the burning machine. Pasquale, with the aid of Columbo, is able to rescue her and takes her back home, where husband and wife are reconciled. They, however, are not alone in their joy, because Margarita has come to realize Pasquale's love for her.

PANTAGES' THEATRE.

The sketch, "A Truthful Liar," which is one of the features of the particularly interesting seven act bill at the Pantages theatre this week, is one of the cleverest presentations ever witnessed in this city. Leila Shaw is delightfully attractive and clever, and her supporting company is good. The sketch is well written and well presented. It has a touch of lightness and offers an abundance of artistic acting, ever needed suspense and all round merit.

"A Truthful Liar" could be made flat by poor presentation, but these players are perfect in their roles. "The Truthful Liar," inconsistent in name only, is a dramatic portrayal of the ingenuities of a woman where her loved ones are at stake. The scene of the play takes place in the apartments of a lawyer who has just made a stirring plea for pardon of the woman's brother, who has been accused of shooting a woman. His defence was that the woman was blackmailing him, and goaded by her impossible demands, he shot her in self-defence. Miss Shaw undertakes to bring this same idea before the governor of the state, a situation exactly similar wherein she is the woman and the lawyer the man. The governor, in a rage at her duplicity, tells her that in such an event he would pardon the man. This of course was only a ruse, and it worked just as she had hoped it would. The woman then tells the governor how gullible he has been, and states that the situation just outlined to him is the exact situation in which her brother found himself, and the governor is forced to promise a pardon for her brother. The whole roles are in capable hands and worthy of the highest commendation.

The other six acts on the bill are just as striking in their own way as is "A Truthful Liar." There is an unusual act and one which will please the kiddies in Lipinski's Dog Actors. This act consists of fifty dogs, of every kind, color and description and they do everything but talk, and some of them even do that at times. The act is conducted without the presence of the trainer on the stage, and represents dogs at school, at business, and at pleasure, dog soldiers, comedians and policemen, even a fire department and a circus. The training of the animals is unusually superior.

Rio and Norman, herculean gymnasts and rope artists, do some good turns, and Danny Simmons as "The Military Hobo," sustains the bill with comedy chatter.

Florence Moore is a dainty soprano who sings delightful songs well, Helen

Mr. and Mrs. Smith were both growing very plump. Every effort to reduce their weight had proved fruitless, and their discontent with their failure was pathetic.

"It is too bad," said a mutual friend to a sympathetic physician. "The Smiths are so fond of each other, and used to be so graceful and slender when they were first married."

"Ah, well," replied the physician, "think how much more they are to each other now."

CLEVER ENTERTAINERS

The Smart Set Provide Enjoyable Programme at the Gorge Park.

The Smart Set, the merry little party of vaudeville entertainers at Gorge park, are submitting a very varied and lively programme this week. The concerted numbers and dances have a real musical comedy finish and are presented with a "swing" that calls for repeated encores.

Little Polle Redfern has won her way into everybody's hearts and her songs this week show her wonderful versatility.

George Pritchard keeps the crowds in roars of laughter with his very clever character sketches, "Stewed Prunes and Prisms," and "Manx Cat," in which he has everybody singing his catchy choruses.

Marc Dale is as great a favorite as ever and has always something new to offer. He shines in the screamingly funny sketch, the "Vaudeville Agents," which is admirably acted by all those taking part. Little Polle particularly pleased everybody by her impersonation of Madam Pavlova, the Russian ballet dancer.

Miss Olga Yardley's voice is heard to advantage in "Hello Hawaii, How Are You," and her numbers are much appreciated. Her dance with Marc Dale is a feature of a very smart bill.

Jack Lea's tenor songs, the violin solos by Miss Amanda Redfern and the selections by the little orchestra, all help to make a pleasant change in a very bright and enjoyable programme.

Mrs. A. "How marriage changes a man." Mrs. B. "Doesn't it?" Take my husband—he used to offer me a penny for my thought, and now he offers me fifty dollars to shut up."

A Vision of France The Spirit of the Nation

By A. G. G., in The London News and Leader

A very brilliant young Englishman, one of the bright, particular stars of the intellectual Socialist movement, who joined the ranks at the outbreak of the war and has throughout refused a commission on the ground that the non-commissioned officer is the most valuable person in the army, said recently that he had made up his mind to live in France after the war. The reason he gave was terse and acid. "In this war," he said, "France has discovered her soul. We have discovered that we haven't got a soul." I think he did his country an injustice. He did not allow for our insularity, for the effect of our thousand years' immunity from invasion, for the suddenness of the shock, and for the blurring of the issue, not only by the fact of the security of the sea but by the internal confusion and conflict to which that security gave life.

France in 1870.

But no one can see much of France without endorsing his verdict on that country. Among all the miscalculations of the Germans there has been none more fatal than their reading of France. They believed the French would go down before them like a house of cards. That reading was based on the experience of the war of 1870, when France danced gaily to the cry of "Mort aux Prussiens!" and in a few short weeks saw her armies shattered by a series of defeats hardly paralleled in history. Even in the midst of that frightful overthrow, the spirit of Paris was true to its tradition. It plunged into a revolution and swept away the shoddy imperialism of Napoleon the Little; but even in that time it mingled a wild and irresponsible gaiety with its panics and despair. It laughed at its miseries and greeted the surrender of Bazaine with a great Boulevard fest: "Bazaine a fini, on se jette avec MacMahon," they said. And in the midst of the siege all Paris could make a joke of General Trochu and his famous "plan"—that plan which he would never reveal, but which was to work a miracle and which he had deposited with his notary, M. Ducloux. The whole city laughed about it and sang songs deriding it thus:

Je sais le plan de Trochu,
Plan, plan, plan, plan,
Mon Dieu! Quel beau plan!
Je sais le plan de Trochu:
Grace à lui rien n'est perdu.

It was the laughter of hopelessness and despair.

And To-day.

There is nothing of this tragic levity visible in the France of to-day. It is the immense seriousness of its spirit that impresses one—that and the astonishing absorption in one idea. It is like a people that knows that it is making its last stand on earth, that if it goes down now it goes down finally, never to rise again. The imminence of that destruction explains the difference between France and Great Britain. In the presence of this overshadowing menace all the ordinary issues and controversies of life shrink to nothing. If France dies, then nothing matters. That is the thought that fuses the nation with a single purpose and a passion of sacrifice that seem to reveal it as something new and strange. It is not new and strange. It is the old France of the Revolution blazing out with a purer fire and the same devotion to the great humane ideas of which it has always been the chivalrous torchbearer.

What strikes one is the calmness and practical genius that are mixed with this intensity. We are accustomed to regard the French as excitable and emotional, impatient of government, disruptive and volcanic. What we have not sufficiently recognized is that passion of patriotism which is their central motive and which in the time of peril resolves all these disorders into one harmony, and that clearness of vision which makes them the most realistic people in Europe. It is these qualities that are dominant to-day.

Paris in War Time.

They are visible even in the external life alike of Paris and of the countryside. The note everywhere is a certain quietude and restraint, as of a people masters of themselves but absorbed in one tyrannic preoccupation. To the casual eye Paris to-day is little different from the Paris of yesterday. There are crowds in the sunlit streets, the cafes are thronged at mid-day, and in the evening the children play in the Champs Elysees while their nurses or their parents sit on the seats in the shade of the trees. You cannot fail to mark the absence of young men in civilian garb, the large proportion of women in black, and the abundance of travel-stained soldiers in their mediaeval helmets and long coats. The note in dress, too, is singularly sober. There is far less finery to-day in Paris, the home of fashions, than in London, and evening dress is no longer good form either in private or in public. But superficially the changes are small and at night the city is certainly much better lighted than London.

A more intimate acquaintance, however, will discover beneath this surface calm a feverish concentration of energy as remote from the traditional Paris as anything that can be imagined. It is working at white heat, with an economy of effort, an absence of friction and a common purpose that offer a startling comment on the French character. The logical genius of the people has in this emergency been a factor of extraordinary influence. It gives all their methods a certain lucidity and directness that are intellectually satisfying and practically triumphant. We have not been accustomed to regard the French as an organizing people, but the organization of France to-day is a miracle of efficiency and simplicity. It is that simplicity which strikes one as so strange. It is as though the vision is swift and sure, and the path to accomplishment straight and unimpeded.

At Claridge's.

That is the impression you get, for example, at the ministry of munitions which is established in Claridge's hotel in the avenue des Champs Elysees. I was permitted to see much of the working of that great institution, and the experience reminded me of the comment of a distinguished official at our own ministry of munitions, who is familiar with the Paris machine. "It is," he said, "as though someone had a vision and translated it into the simplest terms." In that atmosphere of quiet orderliness the whole material problems of the war—transport, railways, munitions, artillery, labor—are dealt with with a startling simplicity and economy of means. It is the biggest business concern on earth, but it runs with the smoothness and certainty of a well-oiled machine. You could write all the scheme of this wonderful business on a sheet of notepaper, so simple, so sufficient are the principles on which it is based. Perhaps it was M. Thomas himself who had the vision, but he has gathered round him some of the ablest brains in France, many of them his contemporaries at the Ecole Normale, professors and business men and scientists, men like M. Simon and M. Clavelle, the latter one of the most striking figures I met in France, immense of stature, with a mighty head set on vast shoulders, a gay laugh, and a volcanic energy of speech that has the quality not of words but of deeds. He had won reputation by dragging the state railways out of the mire, and now his masterful mind is controlling all the transport machinery of the war.

The Women.

This same logical orderliness is observable in the munitions works. Machinery is a subject outside my scope and my understanding, but some of the shell factories which I visited reconciled me to machinery by the exquisite simplicity of the arrangements by which all the processes follow each other with a perfect sequence that makes the production of a shell almost as artistically satisfying as the making of a sonnet. It is this practical genius that is largely the secret of the astonishing productivity of France, in the face of enormous handicaps—its coal and its iron in the hands of the enemy, and its raw material having to be brought overseas, chiefly from England.

But that genius alone would be valueless if it had not behind it the driving power of a people of one heart and one mind, at peace within itself, prodigal of sacrifice, purged of the mutual suspicions, and distrust of normal times. The lessons which France is learning in this furnace of the war cannot yet be measured, but they cannot fail to alter the whole foundations of society and of national character. Take the part which women, for example, are playing in the great tragedy. The manhood of France is in the trenches that stretch from the Somme to the Swiss border. Hundreds of thousands sleep in those bare little cemeteries, open to the fields, that make a journey behind the lines a pilgrimage of emotions too deep for words. And here in Paris, and down at Lyons and Bordeaux and in every city and town, the common tasks of life have fallen to the women. And not the common tasks only, but also the immediate urgent task of providing the army. It is the women of France who are forging the bolts for their men to hurl. I went into one factory where 70 per cent. of the thousands of workers were women—sempresses and waitresses, wives of soldiers and widows of soldiers, women of all ages and callings, working at their dread business with the energy of a consuming motive.

The Field of the Marne.

It is the same in the countryside. When I left the front I was motored to Paris by Chalons and the field of the Marne. Those who know that country will know it as one of the most serene and beautiful passages in Europe. It is the scenery of the classic landscape. The spirit of Claude hangs over these wide skies and spacious distances, where the hedgerows undulate, green with young corn, look like noble parklands that fade away to deep woodlands on the horizon. The tranquility that is the note of this beautiful land is touched with tragedy. You have left the desolation of "the front," the busy life of the country behind the lines were every road is filled with rushing motor cars, troops on the march, great processions of munition wagons, and all the impediments of war, and have come out into the green silences of rural France when suddenly at Sommevous you strike the ruin that the battle of the Marne left in its wake. You pass through villages that are heaps of stones, by the shattered walls of farm houses where the rose trees and the grape vines still climb, by rich wheat lands where the little crosses that mark the resting place of the dead peep above the swaying corn. At intervals along the 50 miles of the journey these crosses appear, by the wayside, in the woods, in the midst of the green fields. You can tell by the color of the tablet in each whether they are French or German dead who lie below, and a little inscription gives the number of the regiment, and the legend "Three French soldiers unknown," or "Two German soldiers unknown." Sometimes the crosses are sparse, sometimes they are scattered over the whole landscape. As I stood on the plateau by the Ourcq where that wonderful army that came in taxicabs from Paris and turned the tide of the war came into action I looked round on what seemed like a vast cemetery, so thickly did the crosses stand in the midst of the corn.

But over all this fertile country it is the labor of women that is preparing the harvest. It is an extraordinary solitary land, for it is closed, to the curious, and the only figures one sees are the rare figures of women or old men working in the fields, tending the cattle or driving the familiar hooded cart, that seems so reminiscent of Mr. Borkis, along the country roads. The work of the French women will make one of the most remarkable chapters in the history of that national uprising which renders the example of France so thrilling a theme in these days.

A Footnote.

The unity that marks the nation is due primarily to the magnitude of the peril, but it is due in lesser degree to another factor. The nation has accepted a journalistic discipline of the severest sort. The rumors and panics, the campaigns against ministers, and all the characteristics of the Northcliffe Press in this country find no parallel in France. Little news is published, there are no German communiques, no lists of casualties, no information as to numbers. The range of discussion is rigorously limited, and so distinguished a Frenchman as M. Clemenceau has had his paper twice suppressed for offering criticisms, once in connection with Verdun. The result is that the country is free from the press-made sensations which have kept this country in confusion. There would be peril in this stern muzzling of the press but for another fact. The parliament has a degree of power unknown here. The public knows much less of the truth about the war than we do, but the parliament knows much more than our parliament. Through the commissions on the army, the navy, finance, and so on, the general body of members have an intimate acquaintance with the facts and exercise an important influence on policy and events. No one can have had experience of the two countries without coming to the conclusion that the French system is the right one for a democracy engaged in a war of life and death. It has secured on the one side effective influence of the people through its representative institution; on the other, it has prevented the nation being made the sport of an irresponsible and incendiary journalism.

SPORTING NEWS

DILLON WANTS TO FIGHT WILLARD NOW

Soundings Are Being Taken to Determine How Public Would Take Bout

Apparently soundings are being taken in different parts to determine how the public would view a Dillon-Willard bout; whether it would arise indignantly against a contest which would bring two men so different in size to combat, or be willing to pay money and stand to watch the consequences. Dillon, himself, wants to meet Jesse, but the Hoosier, he it is in his brain, is moulded in the stern stuff of a fighter who fears no one. One thing seems almost certain. If Dillon and Willard ever meet there will be a much more spectacular encounter than the Willard-Moran affair. The Pittsburgh blond, a solid type, cannot move half as fast as Dillon. His sole method of winning any fight is to plod in slowly until within range, then try to put his entire weight behind a right hand punch that will knock his foe groggy. Outside of the possibility of his landing a few crushers, he cannot administer punishment. Dillon is just the reverse. Almost every moment he has his fists flying at his adversary, and every punch carries a sting. With his wonderful accuracy he gets home an average of four out of five blows he starts.

When Willard met Moran the champion was able to lay back, and with his great advantage in reach snap his long left at the Pittsburgher's head whenever he wished. He did not have to worry about being on the receiving end of the punches, for the simple reason that Moran could not hit him.

Dillon is a master at the art of getting past a long left lead and boring in where he can batter a bigger opponent at short range. He is one of the wonders of ring history in this particular.

JAPANESE STAR BEATEN.

Utica, N. Y., July 13.—The first appearance in the east of the two Japanese stars featured the second day's play of the New York Central tennis championship on the courts of the Yehundasis Golf Club. Mikami and Kumagane won the morning game in straight sets, but in the afternoon Mikami lost to the younger Charles Garland of Pittsburgh, Pa., in the feature contest of the day.

NAVAL REGATTA MAY BE ARRANGED

"Billy" Davies Has Been Asked to Superintend the Water Events

The sailors in port at the present time would like to have a naval regatta and have approached "Billy" Davies in an effort to interest the well-known local promoter in the water sports. Mr. Davies says he is willing to give his time and the benefit of his experience to the sailors gratis, provided he will be promised the support of the citizens in the matter. There is no source of revenue from sports of this kind as they are held out in the open and as there are always a few expenses to be met a little money would be necessary to see the regatta through. It would also be necessary to hang up some prizes for the different events and Mr. Davies thinks inasmuch as the soldiers have been helped out in their field meets at different times, the same should be done for the sailors.

Mr. Davies is practically the only man in the city who is keeping athletics going during the war and as most of his activities have been confined to the soldiers and sailors too much credit cannot be given him. It is the opinion of the local promoter that every man that goes to the front should have athletic training, if possible, and he refers to the fact that Lt.-Col. Mayes, director and inspector of bayonet fighting and physical training in Canada, is a strong advocate of this. Davies is doing all he can along this line. It is just as important to have the sailors in the pink of condition as is the case with soldiers.

A regatta would afford competition and as there are a number of sailors in port there should be no difficulty in organizing a successful afternoon's sport. The sailors are doing their part in the war and nothing should be left undone in an effort to see that they have recreation during their vacations ashore. The support of the citizens would be necessary in an undertaking of this kind, and anyone wishing to help in any way would be conferring a favor by communicating with W. H. Davies, 641 Fort Street.

CANADIAN DERBY WINNER.

Fort Erie, Ont., July 13.—R. J. MacKenzie's imported three-year-old Paux Col won the eighteenth renewal of the Canadian Derby at Fort Erie. He was ridden by Joe Byrne, and made all of his own pace and beat off Phil Ungar by half a dozen lengths and finished under wraps. The mile and a quarter was run in 2:55.4-5.

FINE SPORT SHOWN AT BATTALION GYMKHANA

Many Interesting Events at Yesterday's Entertainment at Willows for the 103rd

A very enjoyable afternoon's sport was afforded yesterday at the little gymkhana arranged by Mr. McCleave and Mrs. Gillespie for the 103rd Battalion. The events were originally designed to take place quite informally, but so many of the officers and men of the unit and such a number of ladies showed a keen interest in the proceedings that it was finally decided to stage the affair on a more elaborate scale. Only a very windy and dusty day interfered with what was otherwise a thoroughly good entertainment, notable for the nice sporting spirit shown by all the competitors.

About ten events in all were booked. The gymkhana started at 2 o'clock, which was a little bit early, on a week day, to get spectators. But there was a fairly good attendance considering the slight advertisement that had been given the event, and keen enthusiasm was shown by the onlookers.

The tent-pegging contest was a surprise to everyone, a remarkably fine exhibition being given by several of the contestants. Major Spurgin, although not one of the first three, showed very fine style in his handling of the lance. Sgt. Porter, who never once failed to uproot the peg, charged down the course in dashing cavalry style which made his performance particularly showy. Colonel Mayes, of the Canadian staff, took part in this as in several of the other events, and showed a fine all-round sportsmanship. In the lemon-cutting contest he and Major Spurgin eliminated the other contestants with a tie, Colonel Mayes at the last winning in this event.

Roars of laughter greeted Sgt. Porter, the heaviest rider in the gymkhana, who very sportingly entered the Gretna Green race with little Miss McCleave on a tiny Shetland pony. Even charged the additional purses of weight and the example of his own charger the Shetland was reluctant to make the first lap. Once mounted by his mistress, however, he flew like the wind, and gave the sergeant's mount a fine race for the goal.

The ladies' bending race was one of the finest exhibitions of this class of event that has ever been given here, and some cool-headed work was shown particularly by Mrs. Gillespie and Mrs. Baines, some of the other riders who were more dashing losing time by their impetuosity.

One of the finest jockeys which has carried colors to the goal in a flat race of any kind here is little Master Henderson, an eight-year-old boy who came out first in a half-mile flat race with three entrants. The finish was close, but Master Henderson's feat won the more applause owing to the fact that it was the first time he had ever ridden in a racing mile.

The race was kept by Lt.-Col. Henniker, O. C., 103rd Battalion. The battalion band was present in the grandstand and furnished a good programme of martial and other airs during the afternoon.

The following is a list of the events and the winners:

1. Run, ride and lead race—1. Cpl. Ash; 2. Pte. Travers; 3. Pte. Herman.
2. Three-eighths mile flat race, for thoroughbred—1. Miss Gouge on Blondina; 2. Miss Doris McCleave on Violetta.
3. Egg and Spoon race—1. Mrs. Gillespie; 2. Miss Elbert; 3. Miss Tonkin.
4. One mile flat race—1. Major Spurgin; 2. Lieut. McLagan.
5. Bending race—1. Mrs. Gillespie; 2. Miss Elbert; 3. Mrs. Baines.
6. Tent-pegging—Sgt. Porter; 2. Col. Mayes; 3. Lieut. McLagan.
7. Half-mile flat race—1. Master Henderson; 2. Miss Gouge; 3. Major Spurgin.
8. Lemon-cutting—1. Col. Mayes; 2. Major Spurgin.
9. Gretna Green race—1. Master Henderson and Miss Holden; 2. Col. Mayes and Miss Tonkin; 3. Major Spurgin and Miss Elbert. Consolation—Miss McCleave and Sgt. Porter.
10. Hurdles—1. Mrs. Gillespie; 2. Mrs. Baines; 3. Master Henderson.

BAPCOS ORGANIZE FOR THE SEASON
At a meeting in Central park last night the Bapco baseball team was re-organized and the following officers were elected: Honorary president, J. C. Penfold; honorary vice-president, W. H. Lawrence; president, B. J. Malton; secretary-treasurer, J. Walters; manager, J. Walters; field captain, John Cummings; management and selection committee, Messrs. Walters, Malton, Cummings and Livingstone; advertising, etc., Bob Livingstone.

Pinkie Grindle has promised to help the boys in any possible way. The team will practice to-night, and the following players who have promised to play and any others wishing to do so are requested to turn out: Balcorn, Flows, Lalonde, Shakespear, Mickelson, Pettigrew, Campbell, Cummings, Hall, McLeod, A. McGregor, Livingstone, Mennies, Bains and Dakers.

CUBS BUY JOE KELLY FROM INDIANAPOLIS

Chicago, July 13.—At a price said to be among the highest ever paid for minor league ball players, the Chicago Nationals yesterday purchased Joe Kelly, Indianapolis club will receive a cash sum of between $12,000 and $15,000 and two players yet to be named. Kelly is expected to join the Cubs to-day. He is a right-handed batter who hit .300 last year and led the American Association in base-stealing with 61 thefts, and so far this season he is hitting about .300.

ELECTRICS DEFEAT BROWN'S BEAVERS

GIANTS AND REDS IN SENSATIONAL GAME

Mound Artists Give Great Exhibition of Twirling in Cincinnati

At Cincinnati yesterday Anderson and Schulz, pitching for the Giants and Reds respectively, engaged in a great pitching duel, the latter winning out by a score of 1 to 0. Anderson, the former spit-ball king of the Federal League, held the Reds to two hits, while Schulz let the Giants down with one safe ball and one base on balls, the only free pass of the game. The Giants played perfect ball in the field, while Herzog's men had only one error chalked up against them.

OAKLAND MANAGER WILLING TO QUIT

San Francisco, July 13.—Harold (Rowdy) Elliott, manager of the Oakland club of the Pacific Coast Baseball League, said yesterday he was ready to resign if he could get an unconditional release from the club owners. He said he had not been able to whip Oakland into a winning team. Elliott said he had several offers to go with Eastern clubs.

SPOKANE GETS HOCKEY FRANCHISE

Spokane, July 13.—A special permit was taken out in Spokane on Tuesday for the erection of an artificial ice skating and hockey arena. Frank Patrick has been in Spokane for the past week conferring with the arena people and he states that the arrangements have been completed whereby Spokane will be represented in the Pacific Coast Hockey League.

FRED BEEBE STAGES GREAT COME-BACK

After Being Discarded by Four N. L. Teams He Pitches Great Game

Seldom has a pitcher made a more auspicious big league debut than that which goes to the credit of Fred Beebe, Cleveland's newest twirler. Not only did Beebe win his game, but, despite the fact that he had been discarded by four National League clubs and apparently consigned to the oblivion of minor leaguedom, he established a wonderful come-back by blanking the White Sox, 2 to 0, allowing but three hits.

In addition to this Beebe had almost perfect control, passing but two of the hard-hitting adversaries, permitting but five men to reach first base and only two to amble as far as second. Only one became acquainted with the scenery of the third corner cushion.

Not only did Beebe have the necessary stuff, but he demonstrated he knew how to work the corners most skillfully, keeping the ball just where the Sox did not want him to pitch, and displaying great confidence throughout.

Such a feat was performed by a pitcher who but a few days ago was working for a semi-pro team in Peru, Ind.—One who had been overlooked by every big league club except Cleveland. Of course, one game doesn't make an entire season, but Beebe, with his record of twenty-seven victories and only seven defeats with Buffalo last year, seems destined to be of great value to the Indians in the strenuous battle for the pennant.

HAS EDDIE M'GOORTY RETIRED FROM RING

From information received in Chicago it is evident that Eddie McGorty, the Wisconsin middleweight and contender for the championship, will not enter the ring for some time to come. Eddie was matched to meet Colin Bell, the Australian heavyweight, at Sydney in May, and then again in June, but the match has again been called off, which means that Eddie is not in the best of condition and will not box for some time.

A friend, writing from Sydney, says: "It looks to me as though Eddie McGorty has retired from the ring for all time, and I suppose he will be going home before long. The fans here liked McGorty, for the reason that he always went in and fought, no matter whom he was going against. The match was made against Colin Bell in good faith, and I cannot understand why Eddie did not go through with it, for to my mind he would have whipped Bell to a certainty."

HARTZELL AT LAST RELEGATED TO BENCH

For several seasons old Roy Hartzell has been threatened with retirement to the bench, and at last the long predicted blow has fallen. The veteran has at last learned the truth of the adage that "Youth must be served." Hartzell is 35 and is a native of Colorado. He has been playing ball for a living for 15 years, starting with Denver in 1901. In 1902 he was with Kansas City and the following year with Peoria, returning to the Grizzlies in 1903. He broke into the main show with the St. Louis Browns ten years ago, and joined the Yankees in 1911. Hartzell is still a good utility man, being able to play any position in the infield or outfield. Except for a brief period with St. Paul in 1907, Hartzell has been in the majors ever since his first trial in 1906.

"LEFTY" SCHROEDER AWARDED TO SEATTLE

Seattle will be awarded the services of Lefty Schroeder, the young pitching phenom now with McGinnity's club, by order of League President Blewett. Both the Butte and Seattle managers have been claiming the youngster and it was up to Blewett to do the interpreting of baseball law.

Schroeder, it appears, signed an informal agreement to play with Seattle some time ago, and that agreement was sent to the president's office on June 13. After putting down his name, Schroeder went to Anaconda and last week appeared in a Butte uniform and pitched two winning games for Butte against Spokane. Immediately the "iron man" sent Schroeder home, which McGinnity refused to do, as he claimed the young man belonged to him and, as he showed signs of being a nifty twirler, he was going to keep him.

Now that Blewett has made his decision, it is probable that McGinnity will take the case to the higher court, and appeal to Secretary Farrell.

TIGERS HIT IN THE PINCHES AND WIN

JOE STECHER SAYS PRESS WINS FOR HIM

Joe Stecher, the phenomenal young wrestler brought from oblivion by the revival of the mat game, says many of his matches have been won for him by newspapers.

"On account of the dope written about me, I am known as the champion with a wonderful leg scissors hold," says Stecher. "It has been written that I have a squeezing pressure of several thousand pounds in my legs and that the hold I use is deadly. In fact, the leg scissors has become as famous as the Gotch toe hold. Consequently, every wrestler I meet is on the lookout for the leg scissors, and he leaves openings for other holds."

"I have not used the scissors in half my bouts. I have used other holds, just like other wrestlers do. Half the time, I do not have to think about using the scissors because my opponent, in protecting himself from the grip, lets me slip on the half Nelson or some other good hold."

CHAMPION PACER DEAD.

Minneapolis, Minn., July 13.—Dan Patch, greatest of all pacers, died here Tuesday aged 20. Although the horse had been sick for several days with inflammation of the bowels, veterinarians characterized the fatal illness as "athletic heart." In 1906 the champion pacer went a mile over the St. Paul track in 1 minute and 55 seconds flat, the premier sulky record of the world. Dan Patch was bought by the Minneapolis horseman, S. M. Savage, for $60,000. He was withdrawn from the tracks several years ago, and has since been used for breeding purposes.

BIG PURSE OFFERED.

Denver, Colo., July 13.—An agreement for a twenty-round lightweight championship bout at Colorado Springs, Labor Day, will probably be signed in Chicago early next week between Champion Freddie Welsh and an opponent to be selected in Chicago. Eddie Pitts, promoter of the bout, left to-day for Chicago with a guarantee of a $17,000 purse for the event.

COUNTRY AFTER WAR*A. C. Flumerfelt Speaks on Possibilities and What Must Be Undertaken

Addressing an audience of about two hundred people in the board of trade room yesterday afternoon, A. C. Flumerfelt gave his impressions based on much collected material and statistics of what can be done in Canada after the war for the development of the Dominion and for the care and prosperity of the returned soldiers. His proposals naturally dealt with agricultural areas rather than with cities, and he presented a comprehensive scheme involving $100,000,000 for aiding soldiers by land development. The facts and figures that were contained in his discourse, Mr. Flumerfelt said, would later be presented to the public more elaborately in another way and probably arrangements would be made for lectures on the matter in other parts of the Dominion. His address covered the whole of Canada and was not specifically for British Columbia. He supported his statements with distinctive maps. One showed the enormous growth of Canada's exports for 15 years, having risen to $250,000,000. Another showed that in Canada there is as much territory as in all the countries now at war in Europe, with the exception of Belgium.

The question of what would happen in Canada after the war, he said, was of commercial, economic and national importance. Three great duties would face the Dominion. There would be the incoming settler, the returned soldier and the soldiers who would come from other countries to follow industrial or agricultural pursuits, and it was now the duty of the nation to prepare for the care of her own returning soldiers.

The speaker gave statistics of Canada's war expenditure, estimating the pension bill will be $35,920,905 annually. There would be other large national expenditures and Canada therefore must develop proportionately in order that her credit may be sustained.

Referring to the care of the soldiers, he said Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Alberta had 485,000,000 acres of land, of which 19,000,000 are under cultivation. He advised that the territory to the Peace and Mackenzie rivers should be opened to the soldiers and the immigrants. In this country there were many things that could be grown besides wheat, and it held unlimited chances for success.

In reference to the location of population, he showed by a statistical map that one-half the Dominion's population is east of Peterborough, Ont. With the increase of population it could be reasonably expected there would be a movement west. The capitalization of the railways had increased 40 per cent, and there now was a heavy burden on the people. The interest on railway building had to be paid or business had to come to assist the railways. Grain would form the great export, and he demonstrated in figures, compiled by experts, what one hundred million bushels of grain shipped at the Pacific coast would mean. There would have to be water transportation provided. This was essential. The cargo they would require 7,250 cars and an expenditure of $12,000,000 to move it. There would be 11,000 men required in train crews who would receive $5,104,062 in wages at standard rates. The fuel bill would be $2,412,000, and this would mean the development of the coal fields. This expenditure only got the grain to the coast, where it would be necessary to have a merchant marine.

The importance of the merchant marine, Mr. Flumerfelt said, was very great indeed, as Japan was after the trade of the Pacific, and a British Columbia marine would have a large carrying trade to the Russian ports. Russia formerly had been dominated by German exports, getting from there 40 per cent of her imports. This was a field that Canada should invade, as it gave immense opportunities.

He made a proposal for a commission to undertake the settlement of soldiers on the land, and would advocate a fund to the extent of $100,000,000. The soldiers, by his plan, would arrive in Canada and be passed through receiving depots and given an opportunity to go into community farming so as to avoid isolation, the great disadvantage in Canadian farming. He would advocate loans on easy terms, extending as long as 36 years or less, if wanted, and without taxation for ten years. Provision also should be made for the widows and orphans of the men who had died in the service of the country.

Mr. Flumerfelt made a patriotic reference to the courage and fidelity of the Canadian troops, and suggested that disabled men should also be well cared for on their release from army employment.

The president of the board of trade thanked the speaker for his address, and Mr. Flumerfelt briefly replied. There was no discussion on the address, although the president asked for opinions and questions.

SOME APPOINTMENTS
MADE BY TRUSTEES*Others Are Left Over to Future Meeting; Change in Faculty at High School

Among the resignations from the staff announced at the meeting of the city school board last evening was that of P. H. Elliott, M.Sc., from the department of physics and science, to accept a professorship at the university of British Columbia. He was appointed in August, 1908, after graduating from McGill university.

Miss Winifred Macdonald, who since Miss A. H. Juniper has been away has been acting supervisor of the domestic science department, sent in her resignation. Miss Juniper will return to her post next month, it was stated.

W. H. Muncy, of George Bay school, resigned to join the 103rd Battalion, and other resignations were those of Miss Amy Andrews and Miss Madeline Davies. Two teachers were then appointed for the grammar schools, Miss Ida McIntosh and Miss Nina Rigby. Miss Rigby, who has been taking a course at the Normal school, won the governor-general medal on graduation from the high school last year.

The vacancies in the high school and other appointments were left over till a meeting next week, when the inspector will be in a better position to know the needs of the schools next term.

Miss Lawson asked that some improvements be made at Kingston street school to assist in the fire protection of the building, and the matter was referred to the building and grounds committee.

Seven tenders were received from local fuel merchants for the supply of coal and five for the supply of wood. The tender for wood, at $3.75 a cord, was awarded to George Burt, the tender being the lowest submitted, but the finance committee was ordered to report with regard to the coal contract, to ascertain whether any of the coal submitted came from a mine controlled by German capital. The lowest of the seven tenders for lump coal were: Kirk & Co. $6.60 and Kingston & Co. and George Burt each $6.70. Other tenders were Victoria Fuel Company, $6.83; Mackay & Gillespie, $6.80; Painter & Son, $6.90; and Hall & Walker, $7. Nut coal was $1 less per ton in each case.

IN VICTORIA*HAVE BEEN FAR TOO HIGH*Better, More Superior and More Permanent Work is Now Performed at Dr. Gilbert's, at Fees About One-Half of Those Asked in the Average Local Office

For years the fees for Dentistry in Victoria have been nothing short of a hold-up.

The average Victorian has been prevented from securing the services of a dentist—especially the dentist who performs the highest grade of work—on account of his ridiculous fees.

Many people have simply had to neglect their decayed and diseased teeth at the expense of their health—much unnecessary suffering has resulted.

All this is now a thing of the past. With Dr. Gilbert's Scientific Dental Service you can now have your teeth restored—perfectly and painlessly—to a clean, sound, useful condition, at fees well within your reach.

Come in to-morrow and have your neglected teeth examined—you'll be astonished at how easily and how reasonably you can be treated. Offices open every evening.

OUTLOOK ASSUMES BRIGHTER ASPECT

Strikers Express Willingness to Return to Work Pending
Discussion of Demands

San Francisco, July 13.—The combined efforts of Henry M. White, acting as federal mediator and representative of the state government have been successful in arranging for a peace conference between striking longshoremen and the waterfront employers' union. The conference probably will be held to-day, according to the statement of Mr. White, who conveyed to the employers the expressed willingness of the strikers to return to work on practically the same terms that were in force before the strike was called on June 1. Subsequently the demands of the longshoremen are to be discussed. The employers are willing to concede the "closed shop" principle.

Agree to Confer.
San Francisco, July 13.—Henry M. White, immigration commissioner of Seattle, who is acting as federal mediator in the strike of the Pacific coast longshoremen, was notified to-day by the waterfront employers' union that they would enter into peace conferences with the local riggers and stevedores union. As the strikers are ready to begin parleys, Mr. White expected to bring representatives of the two sides together late to-day.

No mention was made to Mr. White to-day by the waterfront employers' union of the Pacific coast district of International Longshoremen's Union, which is taken to mean that the local and coast organizations of longshoremen will make separate negotiations for a settlement. The strikers do not expect to return to work pending the settlement of their differences with the employers.

TITAN TO SHIFT.

Sufficient progress has been made in the discharge of the Titan's cargo at Seattle to enable the agents to predict that the vessel will leave the Sound on Friday night for Vancouver. At Vancouver she will work cargo on Saturday and Sunday, proceeding on Monday to Union Bay to load bunkers. The Titan is scheduled to leave Victoria on her outward trip to the Orient July 25, but owing to conditions at Seattle it is unlikely that she will be dispatched on time. The crew of the vessel and non-union men have been working cargo on the liner at Seattle.

COURT REPRIMANDS PILOT FOR MISHAP

Capt. R. Jones Held Entirely to Blame for Accident to Steamer Barrister

MISTAKE IN COURSE
PUT VESSEL ASHORE

Master and Officers of Harrison Ship Exonerated by the Commissioners

Captain Robson Jones, Vancouver pilot, is held solely responsible for the stranding of the Harrison Direct Line steamer Barrister, in the finding of the marine court which investigated the mishap at Victoria on July 1 last. The court was composed of Capt. J. D. Macpherson, wreck commissioner for British Columbia, assisted by Capt. W. Wingate, R. N. R., and R. N. Walker, assessors. The Barrister stranded on Portlock Point, Prevost Island, June 26.

The finding of the court follows: "The evidence adduced before the court in this investigation was of a clear and convincing nature on the part of the master, officers and crew of the S. S. Barrister. The court, however, has no hesitation in saying that the evidence of Capt. Robson Jones, the Vancouver pilot, under whose charge the vessel was at the time of the accident, was of a most conflicting and evasive character and utterly unreliable. Having carefully weighed the evidence the court can come to no other conclusion, and is unanimous in its opinion that the sole blame for the stranding must be imputed to Mr. Robson Jones, the aforementioned pilot. There can be no doubt in the opinion of the court that Mr. Robson Jones over ran his distance after sighting and passing Enterprise Reef Beacon, and by so doing committed a grave error of judgment, with the result that the vessel stranded on a cable and a half to the northward and westward of Portlock Point, L. H. The court is further of the opinion that after clearing Active Pass, and Helen Point had been rounded, a course S. S. E. was set, which a few moments afterwards was altered to S. 25 E., and for some unaccountable reason this last course was not altered as it should have been, after the position of the ship had been verified off Enterprise Beacon.

Licence Not Dealt With.
The court, however, taking into consideration the long and hitherto successful career of Mr. Robson Jones as a pilot, and the fact that the stranding of the S. S. Barrister was as far as the knowledge of the court extends, his first and only accident of this nature in a period of over 24 years, has decided not to deal with his license, but to reprimand him instead.

In arriving at this lenient decision the court is also guided in addition to the above reason, by the fact that Mr. Robson Jones is a man well up in years and there can be little doubt, after having been up all night he was not in a fit mental condition at the time of the stranding, to thoroughly perform his onerous and responsible duties with satisfaction. Further, the court recognizes the fact that when he realized the vessel was running into fog he took the precaution of reducing her speed, thus conforming to the regulations. The court therefore severely reprimands Mr. Robson Jones and warns him to be very careful in future, as a repetition of an accident of this nature would have very serious results for him.

No possible blame, in the opinion of the court, can be attached to either the master, officers, or crew of the Barrister for the stranding. Being absolute strangers in these waters they naturally had every reliance and confidence in the pilot. The court therefore returns the master, Mr. John Richards, and the mate, Mr. Hubert Waller Green, their certificates of competency, respectively, with every satisfaction, and at the same time expresses its appreciation of the coolness and promptitude of their actions when they suddenly saw the land looming out of the fog right ahead, the former by himself putting the helm hard a starboard and the latter by ringing up full speed astern on the telegraph. This prompt initiative on their parts undoubtedly saved their vessel from receiving more serious damage.

The evidence disclosed the fact that on the vessel's arrival in Victoria, the pilot, Capt. Robson Jones, gave the master, Mr. John Richards, a sworn statement in writing to the effect that he, Robson Jones, was solely to blame for the accident, that it had been an error of judgment on his part and that no blame could possibly be imputed to any one of the members of the crew of the Barrister. This procedure on his part was in the opinion of the court a very right and proper one to take, and he would have been well advised had he been many months to have remained by his statement, but to the court's surprise and regret he, the said pilot, when placed in the witness stand practically repudiated his statement, and made a feeble attempt to impress the court that the accident was to be attributed to two causes, one being that after clearing Active Pass he gave the order to steer S. 35 E., and that this course was not made, and the other that the fog alarm bell on Portlock Point was not ringing. As regards the first excuse outside of the fact that S. 35 E. would have been an improper course to set and had it been steered and the conditions similar, the vessel would have stranded to the south of the lighthouse on Portlock Point, instead of as she did to the north. The court can see no reason why it should disregard the very convincing evidence given by the two quarter-masters, Frederick Thorpe and Daniel McLachlin. The former swore positively that after clearing Active Pass he got the order from the pilot to steer S. S. E., which course a few moments afterwards was altered to S. 25 E., which latter course the vessel steered and was steering when he was relieved from the wheel about two minutes before the vessel stranded, the evidence of the latter corroborated this in a most convincing manner.

The Fog Alarm.

The assertion made by Pilot Robson Jones that the fog alarm bell on Portlock Point was not ringing must be entirely disregarded. The mere fact of its not being heard is no evidence that it was not ringing, and the court is of the opinion that the absence of the sound of the fog alarm was an additional reason for Pilot Robson Jones to navigate his vessel with the utmost caution. The evidence of Capt. G. E. L. Robertson disclosed the fact that when the C.P.R. local passenger steamer passed Portlock Point at or about 3.30 a. m. the fog bell was ringing and was distinctly heard by those in charge of her at the time. Though it does not necessarily follow that because it was ringing at 3.30 a. m. it would be doing so at 6.30 a. m. (the time when the steamship Barrister stranded), but taking into consideration the following facts: (1) The fog alarm automatically works for about three hours before being rewound. (2) The evidence showed that the weather had been foggy for some hours. (3) The evidence also disclosed the fact that the lighthouse-keeper on Portlock Point halted the vessel a few minutes after she stranded and asked the question: "Did you not hear the fog bell?" and Pilot Jones himself stated to the court that he heard the fog bell ringing from the stern of the steamship Barrister after she had stranded, but could not hear it from the bow of the vessel.

The court therefore has no hesitation in saying that in its opinion the fog bell was not only ringing at the time of the accident, but had been continuously doing so for some time before and after the stranding.

Master and Crew Exonerated.
In conclusion the court is of the opinion that the master, Mr. John Richards, and the chief mate, Mr. Hubert W. Green, who were both on the bridge at the time of the accident, were keeping a good look-out, attending to the sound signals, steering, and speed of their vessel in a seamanlike and competent manner, and that after the vessel stranded, which was fortunately at low water, they took the proper measures to float the vessel again at high water, which was eventually accomplished with apparently little damage to the vessel.

CHELOHSIN SLIGHTLY DELAYED.

Owing to slight delay on her south-bound voyage the steamer Chelohsin, of the Union Steamship Company's fleet, operating in conjunction with the G. T. P. steamers, is not expected to reach Victoria before midnight en route to Seattle. On her return trip north she will omit the call here, proceeding direct to Vancouver and thence to Prince Rupert.

GOLDEN GATE ARRIVES.

The full-rigged ship Golden Gate passed up in tow this forenoon from San Francisco for Nanaimo. She will load a full cargo of coal at Nanaimo for the Ralph Navigation Company. The Golden Gate has made two previous trips here this season.

HIT SANDY BEACH DURING THICK FOG

Steamer Sol Duc Brought Up
at Violet Point; Vessel
Floated Undamaged

"We hit the mudbank while feeling our way through fog and four hours elapsed before we were able to release her," Captain Harry Carter, master of the steamer Sol Duc, in speaking of the mishap to his vessel early yesterday morning, which stranded near Violet point, Protection Island, while on passage from Seattle to Victoria. "Not the slightest damage was sustained owing to the sandy nature of the bottom. She remained around for about four hours, when she floated easily."

As a result of the stranding the Sol Duc was six hours late in reaching Victoria, the vessel docking just prior to the departure of the Princess Victoria for Vancouver. Captain Carter says the Sol Duc got slightly out of her course when steaming through a particularly heavy bank of fog which completely obliterated the land. In order that the Puget Sound Navigation Company and its agents might be notified it was necessary to row five miles in one of the ship's boats to the nearest telephone station, when news of the vessel's plight was transmitted to Victoria. The Seattle mail was several hours late in being distributed in the city as a result of the accident. After about two hours in port the Sol Duc left here yesterday afternoon on her return trip to Seattle. The delay caused by the stranding prevented the vessel from maintaining her return schedule, but she made good time and was only about an hour and a half late in reaching Victoria to-day.

UNION LINE AGREEMENT

Provides for All-Round Increase in Engineers' Wages and Victualling Allowance.

Sydney, N. S. W., July 13.—An agreement made between the Union Steamship Company and the Australian Institute of Marine Engineers provides for an all-round increase of wages and victualling allowance, with some minor alterations. The increase is approximately an increase of 15 per cent. The victualling allowance is fixed at 12c. per day for chief engineers, and 7s. for other grades, as against 7s. and 5s. respectively, in the old award.

Provision is made for the new award to apply to steamers in which articles are taken out in New Zealand or Australia, and passenger or cargo steamers carrying Australian articles in the trans-Pacific or South Pacific Island trades, with the following exceptions: Walkawa, Waimarino and Waikino, or such vessels as may be substituted for them. Steamers employed in the Australian-South Pacific Island trade, making a port of call in New Zealand, shall also come under the provisions of the new award, which has the sanction of the arbitration court.

BIG CANAL SCHEME TESTED AT SEATTLE

Seattle, July 13.—The Salmon Bay locks of Lake Washington ship canal were closed at low tide yesterday and the fresh water of Lake Union poured into Salmon Bay, which was formerly a salt water arm of Puget Sound, began to raise the surface of the bay to the height of the lake, or 28 feet above the present mean level of Salmon Bay. The locks, together with eight miles of canal, will permit passage of ocean steamers into Lakes Union and Washington, giving Seattle a fresh water harbor. The gates of the locks are fashioned after those of the Panama canal. There are three sets of operating gates in addition to two sets of guard gates. The highest gate is 52 feet. The lake canal project, which is now practically completed, has cost the nation, state and county $3,275,000. In two weeks ocean steamers may enter Salmon Bay. Progress into Lake Union and Lake Washington must wait until several city bridges are constructed and the entire canal will be formally opened next June.

DEPARTURE OF ASIA

Big Empress Posted to Sail About Midnight for Hongkong.

The latest word on the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia is that she will leave Vancouver at 5 o'clock this afternoon on her outbound voyage via this port to the Orient. The big three-stacker is expected to reach the outer docks about 10 p. m., and under the present arrangements will depart shortly before midnight for Yokohama and Hongkong.

CAPT. LINDGREN AFLOAT.

Capt. Lindgren, formerly in the C. P. R. steamship service and later in command of the Lonsdale, is master of the three-masted barquentine Amy Turner, which has just arrived on the Columbia river from Vancouver in tow of the tug Ononta. The Amy Turner served for years as a bulk, but was purchased by Bond Brothers, of Vancouver, and rigged as a barquentine. She is to load lumber at Portland for Shanghai, China.

"Oh, if I were only beautiful," she sighed artfully. "I wouldn't care if I were you," he said, "you are very intelligent, and you have a sweet disposition. Besides, you are nice to your mother, and all that is much better than being beautiful."—And he was never invited to see her again.—London Opinion

HAWAII RUNNING LATE

Japanese Liner Reported Leaving
Hongkong Yesterday for This Port.

Cable advices from the Orient state that the Osaka Shosen Kaisha liner Hawaii Maru, Capt. Saito, left Hongkong yesterday for Victoria via Yokohama. Unless an error has been made in transmission, the Hawaii Maru is running ten days behind schedule, her departure from the China station being originally posted for July 2.

The Japanese liner Chicago Maru, of the same fleet, arrived at Yokohama yesterday from this port. Completing her outward voyage from Victoria via Yokohama the Nippon Yusen Kaisha liner Shidzuoka Maru reached Hongkong yesterday.

SCHOONER CAVIARA LOST.

Washington, July 13.—Loss of the American fishing schooner Caviara, owned by Saunders & Company, Peninsula, Fla., during a storm off the Mexican coast near Progreso on July 5, was reported to the state department through the French consul at Progreso. All of the crew were saved and taken to Progreso yesterday.

ROTARY MEMBERS AS MOCK TROUBLE MAKERS

Barometer Ruffled at Lunch
Brings $19.25 for the Funds
of the Red Cross

What appeared to be a storm cloud arose at the Rotary lunch to-day when P. C. Abell tried to force on the members a suggestion that they should decorate themselves with a large-sized badge at lunch to denote their names, business classifications and addresses. K. A. McLennan at once entered a vigorous objection to a suggestion which, he said, would turn the Rotary lunch into something similar to a prize herd of cattle. Mr. Abell replied that several members had showed in acquaintance contests they did not know several members of the club, and J. H. Beatty supported him with a criticism of the language used by Mr. McLennan. He also made some observations of his own to which the chairman, objected as un-Rotarian. L. A. Walker joined the fray, supporting Mr. McLennan, and what looked like a royal row was soon in progress. Other members of the club tried to pour oil on the troubled water but these efforts were not quite successful until A. E. Mallett, chairman of the entertainment committee, announced that the acrimonious discussion was staged for the purpose of getting the bashful members on their feet to say something. The farce was so well played that more than half the members of the club took it seriously.

There was to have been an address by G. A. Schwabland on the utilization of help supplies, but he was unavoidably prevented from attending and the entertainment committee carried on the proceedings for the day. The remainder of the time was spent in listening to a song by Mrs. Abell and in the disposal of an aneroid barometer which had been donated in the junk collection at Oak Bay. This was offered for sale by J. D. O'Connell, who ran it up to $8.50, the bid of a visitor from Vancouver. The chairman of the entertainment committee then suggested that more money could be obtained for the Red Cross fund by raffling the barometer among the members at 25c each. The raffle resulted in $12.25 being obtained, the barometer being won by James Fletcher, who then offered to raffle it again. Lack of time, however, prevented this.

JUDGE E. H. GARY OUTBOUND FOR ORIENT

Head of U. S. Steel Corporation
Will Sail on C. P. R. Liner
Empress of Asia

Judge E. H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel Corporation, and also chairman of the finance committee of that great organization, will be in the city this evening on the Empress of Asia, en route to the Orient. He will make a prolonged stay in the Far East. An article which he recently contributed to System possesses some features of peculiar interest with regard to the operations of the United States Steel Corporation. In this he says:

"The United States Steel Corporation now employs 50,000 more men than it employed last year—and they receive an average of more than 20 per cent. greater wage. The corporation will, perhaps during the present year, spend $70,000,000 in betterments and improvements.

"The rate of production in the iron and steel trade at the beginning of the year was about 38,000,000 tons of pig iron and about 41,000,000 tons of steel ingots annually, and at the present time is even greater. Last year the rate was only 19,000,000 tons of pig iron and 16,000,000 tons of steel ingots. Our highest previous records for production were 35,500,000 tons of pig iron in 1913 and 35,000,000 tons of steel ingots in 1912. The entire capacity of the United States Steel Corporation is looked for the current year, with many running well into 1917.

"So far as I am able to estimate about three-fourths of the total consumption is for domestic use, and the balance is exported.

"Europe is now buying on national credit, but once the war is over she will be forced to buy on personal credit, and will have but a fraction of the present buying capacity. She will have men, trained and disciplined, but she will need money, and this money must come from the nations whose stores have not been depleted by war. Therefore, it is to be expected that the cost of production, including wages, will decrease in Europe, and that every effort will be concentrated upon gaining gold abroad through sales at lower prices.

"The greatest ready money market will be our own country, and therefore we must expect and prepare against a heavy drive upon our own markets. We have an abundance of money and a high cost of production. We will be an excellent market to sell in, and a bad market to buy in."

SYNOD WILL MEET TO ELECT BISHOP

Special Session Called for October 5 at Christ Church Cathedral

A special session of the Synod of the Diocese of British Columbia has been called for October 5, at Christ Church Cathedral. Having been authorized to call the meeting the Dean of Columbia has sent out formal notices to the members of the Synod, and it is hoped at this session in October, which is called for the purpose, to elect a new bishop of the diocese to succeed the late Rt. Rev. Bishop Scriven.

FRENCH NATIONAL FETE TO BE "TAG-DAY" HERE

Big Preparations for To-morrow's French Patriotic Society Collections

The French Patriotic Society's work-rooms in the Pemberton building to-day are busy with the preparations for the 'tag day' which is to be held to-morrow in celebration of the national fete day of France, July 14. This year French people abroad as well as at home will turn the occasion to practical purposes by making collections to help those who have been affected by the war. The French Patriotic Society, of which Mme. Sanderson-Mongia is the president, has waited until this time to make a collection, believing that not only would the French people living in Victoria, but the citizens as a whole join in a contribution which will go to help the wounded, crippled, blind and orphaned ones who have been made in France by the war.

Mme. Sanderson has many willing assistants, and the preparations are practically complete for an early start to-morrow morning. Collectors will be out on the down-town streets by 7.30, and the man who goes early to business will have first opportunity to make a contribution to the good cause. The girls, of whom nearly sixty have promised to help, will each carry a box with small silk flags to be used as tags. The boxes are to bear cards with the appeal: "Won't you help my wounded, crippled, blind, and orphaned?" Collectors will carry money boxes in which contributions may be dropped, and it is anticipated that Victorians will be no less generous on this occasion than they have ever proved when an appeal is made to their patriotism.

Flower Guild Helping.

It is wonderful to see how readily the volunteers have come forward. The Red and Blue Cross and Returned Soldiers' Flower Guild, for instance, has voluntarily set aside its special work for the day and will collect within the special area which it frequents during the week for selling flowers for the three purposes defined in its title. The convener is equipped with boxes and "tags" and the girls will be busy in their usual district until late in the evening.

International Celebration.

The national fete day of France is being observed in some way by all allied nations. Locally it will be officially marked by the illumination of the parliament buildings in the evening. The Fifth Regiment band in the evening, by kind permission of Lieut.-Col. Angus, O. C., and other officers, will give a band concert in front of the legislative buildings, the programme to be as follows:

March—"Legeria".....Latann
Overture—"La Fee aux Perles".....Tavan
Potpourri—"French Canadian Air".....Laundean
Waltz—"La Val se que nous aimons".....Armand Vescey
Grand Fantasia—"Faust".....Gounod
Cornet solo—"Perfect Day".....
.....Carrie Jacobs-Bond
Bandmaster W. J. Smith.
Selection—"Chin-Chin".....Caryle
Two-step—"Pelicans' Parade".....
.....Dorothy Forester
(a) Marschall
(b) O Canada.

God Save the King.

There is also to be a concert at the Empress ballroom, commencing at half-past eight. Mme. Sanderson will recite "Les Vents des Quatre Saisons," and Mrs. Fahey, Mrs. Baird and Mrs. Roy Troup will sing. Mrs. J. R. Green will play three numbers on the piano.

Decoration in City.

Most of the city merchants have expressed their intention of decorating their shop windows in honor of the French national celebration, and everyone who has a French flag will probably put it up on this occasion. The spirit of the day will not be forgotten, anyway, and it is confidently anticipated that the public will liberally support this effort by the pioneer French Patriotic Society of Victoria to assist their needy countrymen who have been made to suffer through a war against a common foe.

All "taggers" who are helping to-morrow are to be the guests of the Victoria Club, Campbell building, at a free luncheon.

Building Permits.—Building permits have been issued to L. G. Quaghiotti for alterations at 535 Cormorant street, and to Thomas Catterall & Co. for additions to 1015 Jean crescent.

Building Supervisor Giles
Gives Evidence at Vancouver
School Board Inquiry

Vancouver, July 13.—At the close of this forenoon's session of the school board inquiry S. S. Taylor, K.C., challenged the school board to produce a certain alleged shorthand report of a meeting and justify statements made in evidence by F. W. Welch.
Building Supervisor F. J. Giles, who is a sharp-featured, sharp-eyed, sharp-tongued little Englishman, gave evidence. He had been in charge of building construction, he said, in England, Germany, Italy and South Africa before working for the Vancouver school board, and he did not conceal his impatience with the conditions under which he had worked for the past eighteen months in Vancouver.
Standing room in both the public enclosure and the gallery of the assize court room was fully occupied when the session started, and more than ordinary liberty of mood and expression was allowed the citizens who thronged the room. Mr. Justice Murphy taking the view that in a civic investigation neither the rigid procedure or the rigid atmosphere which attends a court trial is to be expected.
Giles said, in telling in his own colloquial fashion some of his troubles in office over engaging and discharging men:
"Mr. Seymour told me that I did not know enough about the men and that it was his intention to see that no Grits got jobs with the board."
"I did not know what he meant by 'Grits,' I never heard the word before, so I went and asked School Inspector Gordon. Gordon said to me, 'I often wonder they keep me on Giles, because you know I'm a Grit too.'"

ALEXANDER KELLETT DIED IN CHICAGO

Vancouver, July 13.—The death took place this morning in the Presbyterian hospital, Chicago, of Alexander Kellett, one of the best known railway contractors in the northwest. He had been ailing from some months, but was able to pay a visit to Vancouver about a month ago, when it was thought he would recover his health. His condition, however, became worse and the end came at an early hour this morning.
Mr. Kellett was associated for a considerable time with Pat Welch in railway construction work, but some few years ago he went into partnership with a Mr. Rankin in the city of Spokane. He carried out considerable work on the P. G. E. and the C. N. P.
The funeral will take place in Spokane.

THOUSANDS OF SHARKS OFF ATLANTIC COAST

Monster Whose Stomach Contained Human Remains Killed Off New Jersey

New York, July 13.—A monster shark whose stomach contained part of a human body was killed at Keyport, N. J., to-day, according to information received at the weather bureau here from the observatory at Long Beach, N. J.
The waters of the Atlantic seaboard are infested with sharks. While hundreds of armed men in motor boats were patrolling the New Jersey coast to-day in search of the man-eating monsters which have now caused the deaths of four bathers, the British sloop Sir George Somers arrived from Bermuda with a score of sharks that had been caught in the Gulf Stream during the vessel's 12-day voyage to this port.
The last was caught off the New Jersey coast the day before yesterday. The crew said that the big fish was numerous and hungry. They followed the ship and snapped viciously at bait. Those caught were pulled in with hook and line and killed as they were hoisted aboard. Dread of the monsters has virtually cleared the middle Atlantic coast beaches of bathers, according to reports received here to-day, while many summer resort proprietors are enclosing their bathing places with steel nets.
The shark killed to-day weighed 300 pounds and was 11 feet long. It was killed near the mouth of Matawan creek, and undoubtedly was the fish which yesterday invaded the creek and killed two persons, the weather bureau informant reported. The two who lost their lives were Lester Stillwell, 12 years of age, and W. Stanley Fisher, 24 years old, who was attacked by the shark when he tried to rescue the Stillwell boy, and died after reaching shore.
Joseph Ralph Dunn, 10 years old, was in a precarious condition in a New Brunswick hospital to-day, where it was said the injuries he received from the shark might prove fatal.

London, July 13.—An official statement issued this afternoon says:
"Heavy artillery duels were in progress in certain sectors of the battle area, since the last report, and fighting continued at various points on the front, but there was no change in the situation of any part of our line."
"West of Wyche and south of La Bassée canal the enemy attempted to raid our trenches, but he was driven off in each case."

SPRING-RICE SAW POLK ABOUT DEUTSCHLAND

Washington, July 13.—Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador to-day discussed the status of the German submarine Deutschland with Acting-Secretary Polk, of the state department.
The ambassador denied later that he had filed a protest against the action of the United States with regard to the submarines getting rating as merchantmen. He said Great Britain would await the final American ruling before taking any action.

COOL ON COAST.

Washington, July 13.—With the East sweltering in deadly heat to-day, temperatures on the Pacific coast were just at the point of comfort. From Vancouver, B. C., to San Diego, Cal., the weather was all that could be desired. Following are the temperatures at 10 a.m. in several cities of the West: San Francisco, 56 degrees; Portland, 62; Tacoma, 60; Seattle, 60.

Washington, July 13.—Authority from the state department to permit restoration to normal movement into Mexico of all commodities except munitions of war was asked to-day by the treasury department.

COULD NOT ESCAPE FIRE OF BRITISH

German Taken in Contalmalson Describes Terrible Conditions Created by Guns

With the British Army on the Somme Front, July 12, via London, July 13.—One of the broken wrecks of men captured on Monday night by the British troops when they entered Contalmalson told a tragic tale.
He spoke a little English, having been a cabinetmaker in Tottenham road some years before he went back to Wurttemberg, when the war broke out, where he said he was taken and put in uniform and told to fight. With the other men of the 122nd Bavarian regiment he went into Contalmalson five days before the fall of the place. Soon the rations they brought with them were finished. Owing to the ceaseless gunfire it was impossible to get fresh supplies. They suffered great agonies of thirst and the number of their dead and wounded increased steadily.
Took Turns.
"There was a hole in the ground," said this German cabinetmaker, whose head was bound with a bloody bandage and who was dazed and troubled as he talked. "It was a dark hole, which held twenty men, all lying in a heap together, and that was the only dugout for my company, so there was not room for more than a few. It was necessary to take turns in this shelter while outside the British shells were coming and bursting everywhere. Two or three men were dragged out to make room for two or three others; then those who went outside were killed or wounded. Some of them had both legs torn off, and some of them their arms, but we went on taking turns in the hole, although those who went outside knew it was their turn to die very likely. At last the most of those who came into the hole were wounded, some of them badly, so that we lay in blood. There was only one doctor there, an under-officer. He bandaged some of us till he had no more bandages."

The End.
"Then last night we knew the end was coming. Your guns began to fire at the German trenches, and the shells burst and smashed up the ground about us. We stayed down in the hole waiting for the end. Then we heard your soldiers. Presently two of them came down into the hole. They were two boys and had their pockets full of bombs. They had bombs in their hands also, and they seemed to wonder whether they would kill us, but we were all wounded and we cried 'Kameraden,' and now we are prisoners and I am thirsty."

Other prisoners stated in effect that the fire was terrible in Contalmalson and at least half their men holding it were killed or wounded, so that when the British entered they walked over the bodies of the dead. These men who escaped death were in a pitiful condition. They lay on the ground utterly exhausted, most of them, and what was strange, with their faces to the earth. Perhaps it was to blot out the vision of the things seen.
The cabinetmaker of Tottenham road sticks in one's memory. In spite of the clay which caked his face and clothes and the bloody rag around his head, he was a handsome bearded fellow, with blue eyes which once or twice lighted up with a tragic smile, as when he was asked when he thought the war would end.
Not Much Longer.
"In 1915," he said, "when I was wounded at Ypres, I thought the war would end in a few months, and a little while ago I thought so again." Then he muttered something to himself, but loudly enough for those about to hear the words: "Surely we can not go on much longer."

Captured Prisoners in Violent Battle on Front in Galicia

Petrograd, July 13.—The capture of 2,000 Germans and Austrians in a battle on the lower Strypa river was announced officially to-night. The statement declares that the fighting was among the most desperate of the whole war and still is in progress.

FOREST FIRE IN CAL.
IS BEING FOUGHT

Riondo, Cal., July 13.—Two hundred men and boys, recruited from Guerneville and other points near here, are fighting a losing battle to-day against a forest fire which is sweeping through the redwoods and brush towards Riondo and Guerneville, threatening to wipe out both towns.

AMMONIA TANK IN BUTCHER SHOP EXPLODED

New York, July 13.—Seven persons were reported killed and a number injured by the explosion of an ammonia tank in a Brooklyn butcher shop to-day. The building in which the shop was located collapsed, burying the occupants beneath it. The work of digging the bodies out of the ruins proceeded slowly. An hour after the explosion it was estimated that between 20 and 30 persons had been taken to hospitals, some of them fatally injured.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS CASES IN WINNIPEG

Winnipeg, July 13.—Two cases of infantile paralysis were reported to the city medical officer, Dr. A. J. Douglas, this morning from different parts of the city. The necessary precautions have been taken.
Dr. Douglas states that cases of this disease occur in the city every year. There has never been any outbreak in the nature of an epidemic and there is not now any occasion for alarm, in his opinion.

DEATHS FROM HEAT.

Philadelphia, July 13.—Two deaths from heat were reported here to-day, making a total of seven since the hot wave set in. The thermometer stood at 87 at noon.

Proof Kaiser and Kron Prinz, German
Dreadnoughts, Sunk

Washington, July 13.—A cablegram from the British admiralty to the British embassy here says positive proof has been found that the two great German dreadnoughts Kaiser and Kron Prinz were sunk by torpedoes during the battle of Jutland and that they now have been added to the official British list of German ships destroyed.

The Kaiser displaced 24,700 tons and her complement was 1,088. She was completed in October, 1912, and carried ten 12-inch guns, fourteen 6-inch guns, twelve 24-pounders and four 14-pound anti-aerial guns, and was fitted with five submerged torpedo tubes. Her designed speed was 20 knots, but she made 23.5 on her trials. She gave her name to the class which she headed, including the Friedrich der Grosse, Kaiserin, Prinz Regent Luitpold and Koenig Albert.
In its first report of the battle at Jutland, the British admiralty stated that one dreadnought of the Kaiser class had been blown up by British destroyers and that it was believed another had been sunk by gunfire.
The Kron Prinz carried ten 12-inch guns. She displaced 25,775 tons.

WILL TRY TO BUILD

Germans Think They Have Discovered a Scheme to Use American Sailors

Baltimore, Md., July 13.—The last case of dyestuffs composing the cargo of the German submarine Deutschland was lifted out about 9 a. m. to-day. The stevedores at once set about making the hold ready for the return cargo of nickel and crude rubber.
Regarding reports of the forming of a company in the United States to construct merchant submarines, Henry G. Hilken, of the Eastern Forwarding Company, the local agency for the Deutschland, admitted that the project is under serious consideration.
"If the plans succeed," Mr. Hilken said, "the line will consist of American-built ships, manned by American seamen and flying the American flag. It will ply between Baltimore and Bremen."

The promoters of the enterprise, Mr. Hilken said, consisted for the present, of himself, his son, Paul H. L. Hilken, and Simon Lake, submarine inventor. The vessels, if the line materializes, will have a tonnage of 5,000 and will be five times as large as the Deutschland. Mr. Hilken added. They will be used for commercial purposes.

INITIAL WHEAT GAIN MOSTLY SACRIFICED

Chicago, July 13.—Highest levels in wheat were made right near or at the opening of the market. Disposition to raise profits, aided by the operations of the short element reinstating lines caused values to drop gradually until at the finish each option stood just fractionally under or above the previous close. It will be about four weeks before wheat is ready to cut on a general scale, which is later than other years. This leaves the crop more susceptible to damage, and it is tension in feeling regarding the outlook, together with corroboration of black rust infection at several points that encourages investment purchases at this time.

More Friendly

Washington, July 13.—Brig-Gen. Pershing reported to-day that it was generally believed both by Mexicans and foreigners along the line of communication of his expedition that a crisis between the United States and Mexico had been averted and that this had brought about a new friendly relationship between the Americans and Mexicans.
"Mexicans in this vicinity and along the railroad," the dispatch adds, "were reported very friendly toward Americans in the last few days. It is generally believed that trouble between the two countries has been settled."
"The rainy season is on in earnest, heavy rains being reported from the various stations along the line during the last few days."

MINNEAPOLIS NEXT FOR MYSTIC SHRINERS

Buffalo, N. Y., July 13.—The closing session of Imperial Council, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, was held to-day, although the festivities of the 32nd annual meeting will not end until Sunday. The principal business to-day was the election of officers and the selection of next year's meeting place. Following the usual custom, all the officers were advanced, H. F. Niedringhaus, of St. Louis, moving up from deputy to imperial potentate. Minneapolis, it was said by high officials, was practically sure to get the next convention. The spectacular feature to-day was the competitive drills of Arab patrols from more than 800 temples.

TO-DAY'S TRADING ON THE WINNIPEG MARKET

Winnipeg, July 13.—Wheat closed a high for July 13; higher for October and unchanged for December; oats, unchanged for July and 1c. lower for October; flax, 1c. lower for July, 1c. for October, and unchanged for December. Rather a light trade was the result of the over-bought market. The prices were firm, however, and though a considerable amount of profit-taking took place there was no inclination to press the short side. There was little good buying and no new export business reported. The early part of the session was pretty exciting and some more reports of black rust would have caused a fair increase. The cash demand was only fair for wheat, with brokers finding it hard to get. The premium slightly cooler July for No. 1 Northern. The demand for oats was pretty good, with premiums firmer in the lower grades.

New York, July 13.—Prices sagged, especially in the case of specialties. Trading was extremely dull and dealines in large part reflected the backing and filling of the room element which took delight in liquidating each specialty in turn as the session progressed.
There was little variety of interest in the day's new budget. The trend for a few days has been downward and consequently periodical upturns can be regarded as natural, although it doubtless will require a sound adjustment of the technical conditions before much of an advance can be promoted in industrial.

MONTREAL STOCKS

(By F. A. Borden & Co.)
Montreal, July 13.—There were some very weak features in to-day's local market. Ames Holden preferred was the worst sufferer, while the steel shares and Cement common sold off easily. Shares obtaining profit from the munitions business were decidedly unpopular both here and in New York and promise to continue so from now on to the end of the war, while companies engaged in more substantial business are gaining friends daily. Detroit United sold fractionally higher and the power group held its own on light trading.

THE TONIC THAT BRINGS HEALTH

"Fruit-a-tives" Builds Up the Whole System

Those who take "Fruit-a-tives" for the first time, are often astonished at the way it builds them up and makes them feel better all over. They may be taking "Fruit-a-tives" for some specific disease, as Constipation, Indigestion, Chronic Headaches or Neuralgia, Kidney or Bladder Trouble, Rheumatism or Pain in the Back. And they find when "Fruit-a-tives" has cured the disease, that they feel better and stronger in every way. This is due to the wonderful tonic properties of these famous tablets, made from fruit juices. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. CHANGED PRICES AT TORIES' SUGGESTION

Further Evidence by J. C. Pendray at Vancouver School Board Inquiry

Vancouver, July 12.—There was a dramatic ending to the rather tame proceedings at yesterday afternoon's session of the school inquiry when Mr. Justice Murphy recalled J. C. Pendray, of Victoria, to the witness stand before that witness left for his home city.

The scene arose in this fashion. One of the principal charges which the commissioner is investigating is that F. W. Welsh some months ago, while discussing an order for soap for the board with Mr. Pendray and his manager, suggested that Mr. Pendray might send a cheque to the Vancouver Conservative Association. This in fact is admitted by Mr. Welsh. The question at issue is whether the adding of the $25 by Mr. Pendray to the soap tender and then the rebating of it back to the Conservative Association was done with the knowledge of and at the request of Mr. Welsh. Both Mr. Pendray and his manager, H. H. Welch, support Mr. Welsh in saying that the original tender was not shown to Mr. Welsh and that therefore he did not know that the $25 was being added for political purposes.

The documentary evidence in the cases, in the form of a private and confidential letter from Mr. Pendray to his later manager, J. N. Davey, setting out the incidents in the Welsh episode, suggests that a tender had been given and was withdrawn at the instance of the school trustee. The letter says in part: "Referring to the Giles matter, we sent in a tender with the soap letter, but when we went up to see Welsh he said we were foolish not to allow something for the Conservative Association. We promptly withdrew the tender and put in another one." etc. In his evidence Mr. Pendray said that the incidents set out in the letter to his manager were inaccurate and had not been intended to see the light.

Commissioner's Questions.

"Before Mr. Pendray goes I have some questions I want to put to him about that letter," said Mr. Justice Murphy impressively a few minutes before the adjournment hour. Mr. Pendray took his seat in the box again.

The commissioner—Did you intend your firm to sell goods at the prices on the first tender you prepared?

Witness—Yes.

The commissioner—What caused you to change your prices?

Witness—The suggestion about the Conservative Association.

The commissioner—When you wrote that letter to Mr. Davey did you expect Giles (the informant in the inquiry) to see it?

Witness—No. It was intended as a private letter.

The commissioner—Davey, in his letter to you on the previous day, had said he wanted to get a letter referring to a five and ten per cent. rebate for the Conservative Association, so as to hand it to Giles. When did you learn that Davey had shown your reply to Giles?

Witness—I cannot say offhand.

The commissioner—But you intimate you intended to take the matter up further with him in Vancouver. Now if that letter of yours is true it would have serious consequences to Mr. Welsh. It is evident Giles asked for material to injure Welsh. I should think you would be very careful in your reply. How did you come to write such a letter? It is not true, you say now?

Did Not Foresee Inquiry.

Mr. Pendray—Well, Davey had written me that the board was not friendly. Giles had been in to see him and had given the idea that Welsh was blocking in from getting business. Davey was anxious to get the business. I was feeling annoyed at the time and when Giles spoke to me he assured me on his solemn oath that he would never use anything I gave him without my permission.

The commissioner—Why did you write this letter to Davey if not to be shown to Giles?

Witness—I wanted to post Davey on the matter, and I was not accurate in what I wrote. I had no idea at that time that the matter would ever be made public.

The commissioner—But the letter was not a careless letter. Do you mean to say you did not consider the terms of this letter?

Witness—No; I had no idea it would ever be used. Giles had assured me he would never use it.

The commissioner—But you knew it was a serious matter. Why, here at the end, you finish up by saying: "I regret I have no further proof." Why did you say that? Why did you regret you had no further proof?

Witness—I do not know how I came to write that.

The commissioner—Well, I am in a very difficult position here. I have to decide an important matter affecting the reputations of two reputable citizens.

Clause by Clause.

Just as the witness was about to leave the stand S. S. Taylor, K.C., suggested that the witness read aloud into the notes his letter, clause by clause, and at the end of each state which was true and which untrue. This was accordingly done. Mr. Pendray stated that the opening clause, "Referring to the Giles matter," was true. The other portions in regard to the alleged tender and its withdrawal, he said, were untrue.

His explanation of the incidents was similar to that of Trustee Welsh.

With the exception of Building Supervisor F. J. Giles, who was sworn at the end of the day in readiness for the session this forenoon, the remainder of the afternoon was taken up with the cross-examination of F. W. Welsh. Mr. Welsh showed himself a keen and ready

The Efficiency of the British Navy

—is due to the fact that it wasn't afraid to discard obsolete ships, methods—and men.

When Lord Fisher started to revolutionize the British Navy—not only did he scrap useless ships which could neither fight nor run away—but he also scrapped useless men. It is this courage to wipe out ultimate waste by the "scrapping" of obsolete methods and machinery—that stamps "efficiency" on the man of to-day.

But there are thousands of business men who strive for 100 per cent. efficiency in the factory or office who are still content with 40 or 50 per cent. in the morning toilet.

The demand for more speed, less mess, less of the tedium of re-lathering, rubbing-in, and slow difficult shaving, and less smart, bite and irritation, has caused many men to discard successively the mug, the stick and the powder as they would discard a wasteful, antiquated machine in the factory.

Mennen's Shaving Cream overcomes every objection to mugs, sticks and powders. It wipes out waste, "rubbing-in," and re-lathering. It is sanitary. It actually softens the beard. It leaves the skin soft, cool and refreshed. There is not a bite or a smart in a tube of it. Mennen's Shaving Cream costs but little more than bar or stick and lasts longer than powder. A 25-cent tube, if used according to directions, will deliver a shave a day for months. It is without free caustic; its healing, soothing properties make lotions unnecessary.

witness, and in the mass of questioning, always entertaining to the onlookers, little of importance was added to that already brought out.

In Two Years.

It was shown by documents that Walter Leek and his company had obtained in two years a total of $4,500 from the school board in fees, commissions and for the sale of goods, and that Trustee Dr. Lang recently moved, but failed to find a second, that the $25,000 worth of school work handed to Mr. Leek to distribute be made the subject of public tender.

"Was there ever such a letter from you as Giles suggests, asking that 5 and 10 per cent. be added to school board contracts for party purposes?" asked A. H. Macneil, K.C., of the witnesses.

"Absolutely false. There was no such arrangement," said the witness emphatically.

Mr. Macneil—And you did not see any tender when Pendray and Welch called on you?

Witness—No. Mr. Macneil—And you were not told of its amount?

Witness—No. Mr. Macneil—And the $25 payment was not mentioned?

Witness—No. I never learned of it till long after.

Mr. Macneil—And what grievance do you think Giles has in suggesting things against you?

Former Investigation.

Witness—The chief one is, I think, that I have wanted his office abolished because we have no building going on.

Another is that we had trouble over Orr Brothers' account, which Giles had O.K.'d, allowing $1 an hour for plumbers. We had an investigation and in the end compromised by paying Orr Brothers 62½ cents per hour for plumbers. They made us a refund. I thought Giles a poor servant of the board to let the charge go through. He admitted his negligence, but got Orr Brothers to write a letter clearing him.

"And when was Giles' office locked against him?" demanded Mr. Taylor in rising to cross-examine a few minutes later.

Mr. Welsh—Not until after he had laid the charges.

Mr. Taylor—Who directed the locking?

Witness—Mr. Seymour, chairman of the board. I am not reflecting on Mr. Giles, but the reason was that during a former investigation some documents disappeared from one of the offices.

Mr. Taylor—Any other doors locked but Giles'?

Witness—No. Why should there be?

Mr. Taylor—Brought out that there had been a shorthand report of the investigation into the Orr Brothers' charges and called for its production to see if it bore out witness' statement that Giles had got Orr Brothers to write a letter clearing him.

Witness—I do not know that everything appeared in the shorthand report. There were others present who heard it.

Mr. Taylor—Never mind, the shorthand report will be quite good enough for me.

THE POOR BIRD.

To test the safety of the church steeple a country vicar climbed it with a scaling ladder—a feat requiring no small amount of nerve.

He was proud of his achievement, and at a meeting of his parishioners described with a wealth of detail his feelings while aloft.

"When I reached the top and saw the huge golden weathercock gleaming in the sunlight what do you think I did?" he asked.

An old farmer, who looked the picture of boredom, hazarded a guess. "You cheated the weathercock," he said.

"What do you mean, sir?" sharply demanded the vicar.

"Why, you did it out of the job of crowing," the farmer replied.

First Actor: "Many a time my poor old father implored me not to become an actor." Second Actor: "Don't worry, old man—you didn't."

NOT QUITE.

A Sunday school teacher was assisting some young hopefuls to commit some short scripture passages to memory. She read out: "Enchew evil and do good; seek peace and ensue it."

On asking a boy to repeat the words, she received the following reply: "Chew evil, for it is good, seek pieces of sust."
